

Abort Repeal... Rocky's Veto Looms

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—A bill to repeal New York's two-year-old abortion law, one of the most liberal in the nation—and predecessor—was approved by the Senate with one vote to spare Wednesday night.

Governor Rockefeller, who has promised to veto abortion repeal, was reported by his office as "standing by his position" despite growing pressure to sign the legislation.

The anti-abortion measure, which was supported by President Nixon, passed after seven arduous hours of debate. The Assembly approved the measure the previous night.

Cardinal Terence Cooke, archbishop of New York, and the state's seven Roman Catholic bishops led the list of those urging Rockefeller to sign the repealer.

(A veto by the governor according to sources in Albany, would all but kill the repeal bill. It would take two-thirds vote of the combined legislature (207 members) or 138 votes. The repeal measure passed in both the Assembly and the Senate but the total number of legislators voting for it was only 109.

State Senators Richard Schermerhorn (R-Cornwall) and Jay P. Rolison Jr. (R-Poughkeepsie) voted for repeal Wednesday night as the measure passed the Senate by a 30-27 margin. Schermerhorn owes his election to the Senate, in part to his position against abortion. He took incumbent State Senator Clinton Dominick of Newburgh to a Republican primary in 1970 after Dominick voted in favor of the liberalized abortion bill. Schermerhorn defeated Dominick and went on to victory in the November elections.)

Rockefeller's New York City office was reportedly receiving telephone calls on the abortion bill at the rate of 30 a minute, but many of those calls urged veto of the bill, a source said.

The bill repealed the 1970 law, considered the most liberal in the nation, which permits abortion on demand during the first six months of pregnancy. It restores the 19th century statute permitting abortions only when the mother's life is in danger.

Related state legislature stories on Page 3.

It has been estimated that between 300,000 and 350,000 abortions, half of them on women from outside New York State, have been performed since the liberal law took effect July 1, 1970.

Rockefeller said he would veto the bill for two major reasons.

First, he said, it would return the state to a condition of "human suffering and family tragedy" caused by "countless illicit abortions." In addition, Rockefeller said he feared the U.S. Supreme Court would declare the old law unconstitutional, leaving the state with no statute governing abortions.

Instead of repeal, Rockefeller has proposed that the time period for performing abortions be shortened from 24 weeks to 18.

Following passage of the bill, Cooke issued a statement urging

Rockefeller "to listen to the voices which speak on behalf of the unborn child."

"We urge Governor Rockefeller to recognize the will of the majority of our elected representatives just as he recognized the will of a bare majority two years ago," the cardinal said.

The bishops, speaking through Bishop Edwin B. Broderick of Albany, also urged Rockefeller not to veto the bill "until a time of mature study during which the general public in the state may also add their voice to the issue."

The abortion debate followed weeks of intensive lobbying by the Roman Catholic Church and "Right To Life" organizations, climaxing last weekend in Nixon's letter to Cooke supporting repeal of the law.

The debate in the Senate was opened by the sponsor of the repealer, Sen. James H. Donovan, R-Chadwick, who waved large color photographs of the remains left after abortions.

"This is what you are doing," Donovan said. "Under this law, we have exterminated a life every three minutes."

Pledge 'Necessary Support' for Hanoi

Soviets Demand U.S. End Viet Blockade

EXPLAINING THE SITUATION—In a Pentagon news conference Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird said that the withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam would continue despite the enemy offensive and the new step-up of the war. He said the South Vietnamese were "holding fast in a very difficult ground combat." (UPI TELEPHOTO)

By United Press International

The Soviet Union demanded today that the United States immediately stop blockading North Vietnam. But the mines sewn in Haiphong and other North Vietnamese harbors, the U.S. 7th Fleet moved in to enforce the American ban on war supplies for Hanoi.

The Soviet statement, first official Russian reaction to President Nixon's Monday night announcement of the blockade, gave no hint of direct Soviet retaliation nor did it mention Nixon's scheduled May 22-30 visit to the Soviet Union.

The Soviet statement, drafted after rounds of conferences in the Kremlin by the Soviet leadership, reiterated the Soviet Union pledges of "necessary support" for Hanoi and urged the United States to return to the Paris peace talks.

Moscow warned that the blockade "is a dangerous and slippery road" and said "it can lead only to another aggravation of international tensions and lawlessness in international relations." It branded the blockade a "gross violation" of navigational freedom of the seas.

UPI correspondent Henry Shapiro reported from Moscow that diplomats there considered the Nixon visit still a 50-50 possibility, and did not rule out subsequent Soviet reaction.

President Nixon met in Washington today with Nikolai Patolichev, Soviet minister of foreign trade, in what was called a cordial meeting. There were unconfirmed reports in Moscow U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam was conferring at the Foreign Ministry. The White House said after the meeting with the Russian that the plans for the Moscow summit meeting were going ahead.

In Saigon, the U.S. command reported that several freighters including at least one Soviet vessel steamed out of Haiphong harbor Wednesday about 36 hours before the mines automatically activated themselves. The mines were laid Monday and the 36 ships in port were given until dusk today, Hanoi time, to leave.

Navy sources said there was no word on whether the mining had actually become lethal, but technical information distributed in Saigon indicated once they were set and dropped there was no way to change their instructions except by fishing them out of the water. There were no reports of mine-sweeping activities.

U.S. sources in Saigon said President Nixon ordered a sharp cutback in American air raids over the north today and only 200 planes crossed into the area in daylight hours as contrasted with the 300 or more that struck the Hanoi-Haiphong area Wednesday.

Those raids produced the biggest aerial battles of the war between supersonic U.S. F4 Phantoms and supersonic MIG21s. The U.S. command reported 10 MIGs shot down and three American planes lost with four pilots missing and two rescued. Hanoi claimed 16 U.S. planes shot down and "many" pilots captured.

The battle produced the first aces of the Vietnam War—Pilot Lt. Randy Cunningham of Mira Mesa, near San Diego, Calif., and his radar officer, Lt. JG William Driscoll, of Framingham, Mass. They were the first to shoot down three MIGs in the same day, but their own plane was lost and they parachuted into the China Sea and were rescued.

Saigon reports said as many as 60 ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet were off North Vietnam to carry out Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird's promise that no supplies would reach the North Vietnamese military. Both destroyers and cruisers bombard targets in the Haiphong area.

The American actions touched off angry reactions in Moscow, in Peking where the Chinese called the blockade a "flagrant provocation" and in Hanoi where the North Vietnamese called the mining a "crazy act of war escalation" and called on their Communist allies to stop it.

China calls the blockade "a flagrant provocation" and Ulster County Peace Committee and Conservatives comment on the President's plan. Stories on Page 38.

The blockade and the bombings touched off angry protest demonstrations throughout the United States, and thousands of demonstrators battled police.

In Washington, Adm. Elmo Zumwalt, chief of naval operations, said the mining of the North Vietnamese harbors and the bombing of rail lines would have an immediate psychological effect on the North Vietnamese war effort.

Officials concede that Hanoi's offensive forces have stockpiled enough supplies to sustain their campaign for some time but Zumwalt said the Hanoi leaders now face the prospect that the incoming flow of supplies will be slowed to a trickle or zero and that they must decide whether to throw present supplies into one big push or into a series of smaller efforts.

New Paltz Demonstrators at UN

By JON POWERS

NEW PALTZ

The campus at the State University College at New Paltz remained peaceful today as local anti-war demonstrators moved their protest activities to the United Nations in New York City.

Nine busloads of students left New Paltz at 9 a. m. today for the trip to New York City, where they joined thousands of students in a rally and march at United Nations Plaza.

An estimated 400 students from New Paltz boarded the nine buses early today, and at least another 100 students made the trip in private cars.

A small contingent of students made a shorter trip to Poughkeepsie today, where they joined Vassar College demonstrators in a march through that city. But the demonstrators stayed clear of the IBM plant, where 12 were arrested Wednesday.

Teach-ins and seminars were held at the New Paltz campus throughout the day, but college officials said that all classes were held as usual.

According to officials, a small group "of less than 20 students" attempted to barricade themselves in the Humanities Building on campus Wednesday night, but apparently did not receive support from their fellow students. They left the building early today.

The protest against President Nixon's latest Indochina policies reached its peak for New Paltz students Wednesday when 11 of them were arrested after they charged onto the parking lot of the IBM plant in Poughkeepsie.

Ten of the students were charged with criminal trespass; the other was charged with disorderly conduct. Another arrested was Michael Stamm of Poughkeepsie, who said he teaches classes in non-violence at New Paltz.

The demonstrators left the New Paltz campus early Wednesday afternoon, and marched for about five miles along Route 299 before piling into cars and driving the rest of the way to Poughkeepsie. They were joined by several hundred other students from Vassar and Marist Colleges in front of the IBM plant.

The protesters were met by Town of Poughkeepsie police and deputies from the Dutchess County Sheriff's Department. They stopped the marchers less than a mile from the plant, but then allowed them to move closer.

Once they were in front of the sprawling IBM complex, the students chanted peace slogans and passed out leaflets to employees and pedestrians. For the most part, they were ignored, until 12 rushed onto the IBM property. They were arrested, arraigned and released on bail.

Plans for today's march on the UN were first made at a mass rally on Tuesday, and finalized at a meeting Wednesday night. Several of the buses used to transport the demonstrators to New York City were reportedly chartered by the Student Government Organization.

Antiwar Protests... Widespread, Turbulent

By United Press International

Thousands of antiwar demonstrators battled police, barricaded streets and besieged government and campus buildings Wednesday in the third night of angry protests against U.S. harbor bombings and air bombings in North Vietnam.

In Minneapolis, 150 National Guardsmen patrolled the University of Minnesota campus today. Gov. Wendell Anderson activated three units totaling 715 men when Minneapolis Mayor Charles Stenvig reported the situation was "very critical."

Stenvig's plea for help came after 150 policemen clashed with a crowd of 2,000 demonstrators who had stopped traffic in the campus area, overturned and burned a car and thrown rocks and bottles at police. Tear gas was used to break up the crowd and 30 persons were arrested.

Nearly 1,000 persons have been arrested in protests across the nation since President Nixon announced in a televised address to the nation Monday night that he had ordered the mining of North Vietnam ports and bombing of supply routes. The announcement resulted in the most widespread and turbulent protests since May, 1970, when four Kent State University students were slain by National Guardsmen.

Three hundred riot-equipped police clashed with 2,000 University of Florida students at Gainesville, using tear gas to disperse crowds. Arrests swelled to 140 early today, bringing the two-day arrest total there to at least 359. At least seven persons also were arrested at the University of Southern Florida and 34 at Florida State University.

New York City wielding nightsticks forcibly removed several dozen demonstrators who had blocked Times Square since the evening rush hour. Rush hour traffic was brought almost to a standstill on Park Avenue when 2,500 demonstrators held what they called a simulated "saturation bombing" of Midtown Manhattan.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Willie Mays was traded to the New York Mets by the San Francisco Giants today.

The Mets gave the Giants minor league pitcher Charlie Williams, now at Tidewater, and an undisclosed amount cash. (Earlier story on page 29.)

'Daddy Shot Us,' Weeps Girl; Firemen Find Five Bodies

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Virgil Reynolds, 27, once told his brother he "didn't want his children to grow up in this lousy world."

Wednesday, firemen entered Reynolds' burning house and found his daughter Patricia, 9, with a bullet wound in her head.

"Daddy shot us," the child wept.

Firemen then found five bodies—Patricia's sisters, Carlotta, 7, Yvette, 2, and Alia, 1; their mother, Gloria Reynolds, 28; and Reynolds.

The little girls each had been killed by a single shot to the head. Mrs. Reynolds had been stabbed to death.

Firemen found the family dog in the garage also dead of a single gunshot wound in the head.

Patricia, the only survivor, was listed in serious condition in Mercy Hospital.

Police theorized Reynolds set the house on fire after thinking of things," the brother said. "But he didn't show any symptoms of cracking up. He went to work today as usual."

A neighbor, Gladys Harms, said the first time she knew anything was wrong was when she saw smoke pouring out of the back of the Reynolds' small frame house. She said she did not hear the shots.

She said she went to the front door, knocked, and got no response.

"All I could see was fire and smoke. The rug was on fire," she said.

She called to her daughter to call the fire department. When firemen entered the house they found Reynolds and Carlotta dead in the living room, the mother and Alia in one of the bedrooms, and Yvette in a hallway.

Mrs. Harms said there did not seem to be anything wrong when she talked to Mrs. Reynolds two days ago.

"She was happy and laughing when I talked to her," Mrs. Harms said. "I didn't know Mr. Reynolds, but he was always nice when he spoke to us and he would always wave."

Former Rosendale Town Constable Now Free on Bail

By WALTER S. CLARK

LAKE PLEASANT

A former Town of Rosendale constable is free in bail of $5,000 pending a reappearance in Hamilton County court on Friday, May 26 on a charge of criminal possession of stolen property, a felony, that stemmed from an investigation in Ulster County.

The charge against Franz Muller, 33, of Route 32, Rosendale, involved a bulldozer and road roller owned by Joseph Mayone of Glasco, who reported the machines had apparently been stolen late in 1970.

Authorities said the roller and bulldozer had been recovered in Hamilton County on property reportedly owned by Muller.

The defendant was arrested earlier this week by State Police BCI Investigators David Wachel and Carl Van Wagenen of Troop F, Hurley, on a bench warrant issued by Hamilton County Judge George W. Martin. Muller was arraigned the day following his arrest and entered a plea of innocent to the charge.

Muller was released after posting $5,000 property bond, according to Hamilton County District Attorney William H. Intemann Jr.

Muller had been arrested in Ulster County in December, 1970, on a charge of grand larceny involving the road roller and bulldozer, according to Ulster County District Attorney Francis J. Vogt. That arrest followed recovery of the machinery on Muller's upstate property, police said.

Vogt said that the case was presented to a grand jury in Kingston, but because corroborated evidence is required by state law when an accomplice is involved, the jury reported out a "no bill" and the grand larceny charge was dropped.

According to Vogt, he then forwarded "a complete file" of the case to District Attorney Intemann with a suggestion that he (Intemann) may want to investigate the recovery of the machinery in Hamilton County.

The Marbletown Town Board has charged that the late Judge Alphonso T. Clearwater had no right to will the 275-year old town seal to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in 1933 and has demanded its return.

A letter to the museum from Town Attorney John B. Wilkie was read at Wednesday night's town board meeting which says in part, "It is of course the position of the town that the seal belongs to the town and that Judge Clearwater never obtained any title or right to keep it. His possession of it at the time of his death was illegal and therefore possession of the seal by his legatee is just as invalid as it was to the judge himself. . . . It is the desire of the Town of Marbletown that the rightful ownership be vested in it."

"Will you please advise me if you see any impediment to relinquishing your claim of ownership and title to the seal without a court order," Wilkie concludes. The story of the seal has been spotlighted in two Sunday Freeman features.

Intemann told The Freeman term and the bench warrant of Wednesday afternoon that a arrest was issued by Judge Hamilton County grand jury Martin and turned over to indicted Muller at the March State Police.

The upstate county prosecutor confirmed the report that Muller's machinery had been found in Hamilton County "on property owned by the defendant."

Following his arrest in Ulster County, Muller filed a lawsuit for $32.8 million in Ulster County Supreme Court. In that action the plaintiff named as defendants a number of residents and public officials charging them with "harassment" and "a smear campaign against him."

Muller previously had filed a $10 million suit against many of the same persons in federal court. The events involved in the federal action took place on Dec. 9, 1970, the date of Muller's arrest in Ulster County for grand larceny.

Marbletown Board Demands Return of Seal

STONE RIDGE

The Marbletown Town Board has charged that the late Judge Alphonso T. Clearwater had no right to will the 275-year old town seal to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in 1933 and has demanded its return.

A letter to the museum from Town Attorney John B. Wilkie was read at Wednesday night's town board meeting which says in part, "It is of course the position of the town that the seal belongs to the town and that Judge Clearwater never obtained any title or right to

"Will you please advise me if you see any impediment to relinquishing your claim of ownership and title to the seal without a court order," Wilkie concludes. The story of the seal has been spotlighted in two Sunday Freeman features.

In other action, the town board named a Narcotics Guidance Council to be headed by James Bertucci, principal of Rondout Valley High School. The Council also includes Dr. Anthony J. Tocco of Stone Ridge, the Rev. Richard Brihn of the High Falls Reformed Church, Allan McCorkle, a Boy Scout leader and Town Attorney Wilkie.

The board also raised the fees at the town park off Tongore Road from $15 for town residents to $20 and from $30 for out of town residents to $40.

Also, a petition with more than 200 names was presented asking town officials to request the State department of Transportation to install traffic lights at the corner of Route 209 and Cottekill Road and at the corner of Lucas Avenue and Cottekill Road.

Stuyvesant Apartments...Starting in August

KINGSTON Construction on the 120-unit Stuyvesant Charter Apartments off Flatbush Avenue in Kingston is expected to begin by Aug. 1, following Wednesday's announcement of approval of federal rent subsidies.

The Office of Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. in Washington announced yesterday that $100,125 had been earmarked for the project under the FHA's interest assistance program.

Alexander Yosman, assistant to the president of Route 9 Corp. which is building the apartment complex, explained that the $100,125 is held in a fund by the federal government and will be paid directly to the mortgagee of the project, when the units are occupied.

The money will be used to hold down rent costs in the project. As outlined by Fish's office yesterday, there will be 40 one-bedroom apartments at $132.50 a month; 39 two-bedroom apartments at $150 a month and 40 two-bedroom apartments at $156 a month. A two-bedroom apartment will be reserved for the building superintendent. The developer provides a refrigerator and a stove for all apartments. The rental includes all utilities.

Total cost on the project is estimated at $2,250,000. It will carry a mortgage of $2,035,400. Parking will be provided for 180 cars on the nine-acre site. Seven, two-story frame garden type apartments will be constructed with the developer aiming for occupancy by early 1973.

Route 9 Corp. is also building a 140-unit luxury apartment complex in the Uptown Urban Renewal Project. Yosman said he was "quite satisfied" with progress on that project. Construction began last month on the 14 complex, situated on eight acres of land off Murphy Street. Yosman hopes to have some of those apartments rented by the end of this year.

Land Tract Purchase Is Announced

KINGSTON

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation announced today that it has exercised an option to purchase a 93-acre tract of land on the Hudson River in Ulster County. The tract was formerly occupied by the Terry brickyard and is south of the western end of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge in the Town of Ulster.

The property is presently owned by Waterways Associates Inc. The purchase price was not announced.

"This purchase," said John Wilkie, chairman of the board of directors of Central Hudson, "reflects Central Hudson's continuous planning to meet the growing power needs of its customers. The site will be available for the future construction of a conventional, oil-fired electric generating plant, the size and cost of which have not been determined."

Central Hudson owns two other properties which may be suitable for future generating plants, one at Green Point south of Catskill, and one known as Ward Manor of Tivoli.

Voted for Abort Law in '70... Ex-Lawmaker Would Do It Again

AUBURN, N. Y. (UPI)—The man credited with giving New York State its liberalized abortion law in 1970 said Wednesday he would have voted the same way again—for abortions—if he were still a lawmaker.

Former Assemblyman George N. Michaels, a Democrat, said, however, it wasn't the approval of the repeal bill in the legislature which irked him — it was President Nixon's "blatant and unconscionable" support given to the repeal forces.

"I'm sure Mr. Nixon could care less what I think, but I think he was on untenable ground on this thing," Michaels said. "It was simply a politically motivated move on his part, because he made his views on abortion repeal known long ago when he issued a directive to all military hospitals prohibiting abortions in them."

Michaels, now an attorney in private practice in the Finger Lakes community of 34,800 persons, criticized the move as political because of the "timing" involved.

"Where does he come off writing a letter (to Cardinal Terence Cooke of New York) at that time and saying what he did? His motivation was no better and no worse than when he butted into the Lt. Calley thing, or when he made a dramatic speech on busing at the time of the Florida primary."

In a dramatic move on April 9, 1970, Michaels, a Democrat from a predominantly Republican area, switched his vote on the ten-proposed abortion measure. His last-minute support proved to be the deciding vote, ensuring passage in the Assembly.

In an emotion-laden speech at the time, he said his decision might mean an end to his political career. His own party, later, failed to endorse the five-term assemblyman for re-election.

Following the close vote for repeal in the Senate Wednesday, Michaels said, "I'm not bitter, but I am disappointed. Yet that's the way the ball bounces. I'm hopeful that the governor will veto the bill, and I'm sure he will," he said. "I respect those who feel strongly that abortion is morally wrong, and that's their right to say so. Nobody in my family would have an abortion, but I don't feel that I should impose that restriction on somebody else."

Michaels—who is Jewish—said his vote switch was partly motivated by comments from the late Cardinal Richard Cushing of Boston, who had said that a religious man needs no law to implement his own religious faith.

Citing the history of the two-year-old statute, he said that figures from New York City have shown a dramatic decrease in maternal deaths, indicating that passage of the repeal law would stop all abortions, I commented: "My committee say what I feel. But, before turning to the 'back room' would have voted for it," he asked me to run for re-election (when in office), I had to be butchers" for abortions, said.

"If I thought for one minute I still feel that way. I'm had to mind by P's and Q's."

Ellenville School Disturbances Discussed

Assistant Principal Places Blame With Community

By WADE BURKHART

INDICTED — Joseph Larkin, the driver of a school bus that collided with a 83-car freight train at an unguarded crossing March 24 was indicted Wednesday on five counts of criminally negligent homicide — one count for each of the teenagers killed in the grinding crash near New City. Larkin, 40, is shown as he was carried from the scene. He was ordered to appear for trial July 5. Larkin pleaded innocent to the charges. (UPI) officials agreed to attend the ELLENVILLE meeting, and grant use of the high school auditorium, at Mrs. Charles Jackson laid the blame Blauvelt's request. Outgoing Assistant Principal Blauvelt said at the meeting she had no official standing or affiliation, and had arranged the meeting solely as a mother and district resident at a meeting held to discuss the "responsible officials" and see what the truth was. Sporadic violence flared up Tuesday following a fight between female high school students allegedly broken up by Jackson, according to all reports. There was little trouble Wednesday, according to school district officials, but rumors of further, organized disturbances were flying and a number of parents pulled their children out of school during the day. The meeting was arranged by Mrs. Emma Blauvelt, on her own, to try to separate the fact from the fiction, she said. Superintendent of Schools Thomas J. Hayden said district students, staff, and faculty who receiving scratches on his wrist and a torn coat for his effort. A black girl in the audience said she was not involved, and that Jackson had "choked" her and thrown her up against a locker. Jackson said it may have felt like that to her but that wasn't what he did. Trappnell told the audience the disturbances were "not a police problem," as the police had not been called in, but assured the audience the police were standing by and ready if needed.

A number of people attacked Hayden reported the large number of parents pulling their children out of school was the only serious incident in the last two days in the elementary school. He said Elementary Principal Milton Lachterman postponed the concert scheduled for Wednesday because he thought there would not be enough musicians. Several members of the board of education attended the meeting. They heard high school guidance counselor Anthony Percoco urge the setting up of an interracial committee of students to try to determine the problems facing the district, and the possible solutions. A number of people called for more discipline in the schools.

Red Hook Faculty Association Declares Talks at Impasse

RED HOOK further stated that at subsequent meetings held March 7, 20, and 27 the faculty requested the Board's proposal on salary and Robert Gray, Board negotiator, replied that a "meaningful proposal" was being prepared. Negotiation sessions for April 12 and April 27 were cancelled by the Board negotiator because a member of the negotiating team could not be present and the school budget had not been prepared. The Board presented its salary proposal May 3 with no exchange of positions made. On May 9, Rabinowitz reported to

Additional Court Revenues
ALBANY cases will be increased from three dollars to five dollars. Under the proposal the fee for filing notes of issue and demand for jury trial will increase from five dollars to $10. Commenting on the merits of the legislation, Gilman said, "The increase in fees will help overcome the rising costs of clerical services."

Chevelle and Impala. We've packed them for your vacation.

Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe and Impala Sport Sedan.

There are certain things no family should start out on vacation without.

Things that will help make your trip more enjoyable, less worrisome. We've packed many such things into our Chevelles and Impalas, the two most popular cars in their fields.

Chevelle: the most popular intermediate.

Impala: the most popular full-size car.

"Talking" seat belts.

Traveling around, getting in and out of the car a lot, it's easy to forget about buckling up.

Consequently, every new Impala and Chevelle has a front seat belt reminder system that speaks up if you try to start out before buckling.

A buzzer buzzes and a light flashes to make sure you get the message.

And that's just one of many protective features now being built into these cars.

Feel their muscles.

Out on the road, it's reassuring to realize you're riding in a car that's well built.

What you get with an Impala or Chevelle is a body that's an all-welded steel superstructure, painstakingly put together. In other words, a Body by Fisher.

You get a sturdy steel guard beam in every door for added protection in case of side impact.

You get a steel cargo guard that walls off the passenger compartment from the trunk and helps keep everything in its place.

You get double steel panels in the doors, in the hood, in the deck lid.

Up inside the fenders: inner fenders to protect against corrosion and kicked-up stones.

What you get, in both of these popular cars, is a lot of built-in strength and durability.

Good things to have along as you travel.

Let's talk comfort.

Another reason why Chevelle and Impala are the top cars in their fields is their comfort.

Impala is one of the roomiest cars around.

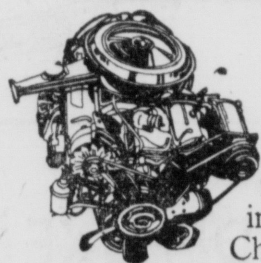

And Chevelle, though slightly smaller, gives you room for six. Plus plenty of baggage.

But comfort is more than just plenty of room.

So at all four wheels we've put big coil springs to gentle up your ride.

And between the body and the frame we've placed a network of little rubber cushions to help keep things quiet inside.

There's even more.

Here are a few more items you'll be taking along this summer if you travel in a new Impala or Chevelle:

A tough acrylic lacquer finish. A battery with its terminals on the side so corrosion can't build up.

An engine that operates efficiently on no-lead, low-lead, or regular fuel.

Why, on Impala, you even get power steering, power disc brakes and Turbo Hydra-matic transmission—all standard.

A beautiful choice.

We suggest you stop by your Chevrolet dealer's soon, to take a close look at the 1972 Chevelle or Impala.

It's nice to know that whichever way you go, you'll be getting a whole lot of car.

Packed with the right features. Packed with good old American value. Have a good trip.

Chevrolet. Building a better way to see the U.S.A.

Thompson Pond Committee Helping to Save the Land

By TIM SCHUSTER

PINE PLAINS
Fifteen years ago a group of citizens, aided by The Nature Conservancy, raised funds to save the waters of Thompson Pond and approximately two-thirds of its shoreline—all then available for purchase.

The remainder of the shoreline of this glacial lake south of Pine Plains, approximately 130 acres, recently became available and The Nature Conservancy advanced funds as a three-year loan to save this land.

This is expected to assure complete protection of the pond from development forever.

This loan of $55,000 must be repaid by interested citizens so that the Conservancy can use funds for other conservation projects.

The Thompson Pond Committee of The Nature Conservancy, chaired by Mrs. Paul P. Haight of Stanfordville, and composed primarily of other Dutchess County members, is engaged upon this fund-raising.

To date, about $8,000 has been raised. The pond is 100 acres, believed to be little changed since the Ice Age, with a marshy shore providing abundant breeding grounds for wildlife. Red-tailed hawks soar over its waters in spring and summer from their nests on nearby Stissing Mountain.

The Thompson Pond area is in the process of succession to a marsh; however, it is expected that considerable areas of open water will remain for a long time.

Wooded swamps have formed at the pond's outlet and elsewhere near the shore. Old pasture between the pond and Stissing Mountain is reverting to woodland. The mountain is covered with a fairly mature forest of hardwoods, hemlock, and white pine.

The land purchased is to run from the pond's western edge to the top of nearby Stissing Mountain. The mountain rises a thousand feet above the water and affords a view across the broad flat valley to the Berkshire Hills.

The present 135-acre addition will complete the acquisition of the pond shoreline begun in 1958 when the area was threatened with dredging and development. The entire preserve will comprise more than 300 acres. Thompson Pond appears to be in the process of succession to a marsh; however, it is expected that considerable areas of open water will remain for a long time.

Wooded swamps have formed at the pond's outlet and elsewhere near the shore. Old pasture between the pond and Stissing Mountain is reverting to woodland. The mountain is covered with a fairly mature forest of hardwoods, hemlock, and white pine.

The Nature Conservancy is the only national non-profit conservation organization, receiving its support from the public, whose resources are solely devoted to the preservation of ecologically and environmentally significant land.

To date, the Conservancy and its 30,000 members across the nation have been involved in setting aside some 282,000 acres in 740 projects in 45 states and the Virgin Islands.

For those wishing to contribute to the repayment of funds to the Conservancy, tax deductible contributions may be mailed to: Thompson Pond Fund, Box 37, Pine Plains, N.Y. 12567.

University Without Walls Recieves Accreditation

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON
Accreditation of Bard College's University Without Walls program has been received from the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Because of the rapid development of non-traditional programs in higher education, the Commission is concerned with the development of more effective devices for measuring their outcome.

An evaluation team from the Association will probably visit Bard in about two years to follow up on developments in the new program.

Meanwhile, the Association has recommended that the college build into the program some form of evaluative mechanism in order to determine its effectiveness.

Such evaluation has, in fact, been a continuing activity of the Program Director and the faculty committee charged with its operation and has included the use of questionnaires and reports from faculty and students involved.

Students in the UWW program are expected to be at least 23 years of age and to have had some prior college experience. Applicants' qualifications and aims are considered individually and an appropriate course of study developed for each student admitted.

New Electrocardiogram Machine Aiding Dutchess College Students

POUGHKEEPSIE
A new electrocardiogram machine is aiding the training of medical assistant technology students at Dutchess Community College.

The sophisticated monitoring machine measures the rate and intensity of human heart beats. In laboratory sessions, students learn to operate the device and mount graphic diagrams of a patient's coronary condition.

The task is similar in nature to the duties many graduates are expected to perform in physicians' offices.

The ECG machine complements new equipment in the medical assisting area of Taconic Hall, which includes an examination table, cabinets, and other equipment characteristic of a doctor's office.

The medical assistant program at Dutchess, one of three health technologies available, also sends students off campus for a variety of field experiences.

Students are serving in ships with Texaco, DeLaval Corporation, IBM, and the offices of several physicians in the area.

Chamber of Commerce To Hear Guest Speaker

RED HOOK
The Red Hook Chamber of Commerce will have the Rev. James E. Lindsley as guest speaker at its Friday dinner meeting.

The Rev. Lindsley will speak on the forthcoming Tivoli Centennial Celebration slated for June 9-11, and will give some historical background for the Tivoli-Red Hook area.

A recent meeting of the Chamber saw the entire slate of officers re-elected.

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained from Olive Lunk or Josephine Waryas.

Test Planned

The Dutchess County Health Department will conduct its annual tuberculin testing program for school children in grades 7 and 11 of the Rhinebeck Central School May 16. Permission slips for the testing have been distributed to the students and are to be returned by May 6.

Phased Suburban Growth

In a ruling that could influence small town and suburban growth across the nation, the New York Court of Appeals, highest in that state, has upheld "phased growth," the right of a fast-growing town to regulate its growth through a strict planning ordinance.

The town of Ramapo in Rockland County argued, and the Court agreed, that it had the right to freeze development of vacant land for up to a generation, until town officials are prepared to furnish sewers, water lines, schools and other services, a bane on development in almost every community in the nation.

Town officials were fearful of a sprawl of subdivisions that might strain the community's resources and character. Landowners wanting to sell and developers challenged a 1965 ordinance that said no new housing could be built in given areas until the services became available.

On Campaign Financing

For the first time in almost 50 years, a major new campaign financing law will govern the 1972 federal elections.

The law went into effect last month.

There's only one thing wrong with it. It's not working, thus far, and concern is rampant among those who had hoped to see the nation benefiting from the legislation which, with certain qualifications, requires disclosure of contributions exceeding $100.

One of the basic flaws is the placing of responsibility for congressional compliance in the hands of two congressional employees, the clerk of the House and the secretary of the Senate. Thus it retains the same form of self-oversight for Congress that failed under the 1925 Corrupt Practices Act.

With Congress monitoring its own activities, the built-in conflict of interest is clear. This brings up the question of how sincere Congress was in compiling the new law. Obviously there is a fundamental inconsistency to assigning an employee to investigate and supervise his employer.

The United States attorney general has the responsibility of enforcing the law, just as he did under the old act, but in the 47 years of the latter's existence, no case ever was brought against a congressman. There is little reason to believe this will change.

The most obvious failure is widespread noncompliance with the new requirement that candidates for federal office make sworn statements of their campaign receipts and expenditures within prescribed deadlines. Financial committees supporting candidates were required to have registered

The majority opinion was a charter for orderly, paced development. It said: "Ramapo asks not that it be left alone, but only that it be allowed to prevent the kind of deterioration that has transformed well-ordered and thriving residential communities into blighted ghettos, with attendant hazards to health, security and social stability." Dissenters warned against a "walled-in" community, saying: "Ramapo would preserve its nature, delightful as that may be, but the supervening question is whether it alone may decide this or it must be decided by the larger community represented by the legislature."

The decision upheld the right of communities to preserve the country's Edens, as not violative of the federal and state constitutions. That is the finding that will stimulate rational phased growth everywhere.

by April 17. Many have failed to do so.

Even President Nixon's supporters appear to be parties of noncompliance, although when the President signed the measure into law, he proudly asserted it "would give American voters full access to the facts of political financing and thus work to build public confidence in the integrity of the electoral process."

But with the exception of Nebraska, committees backing Mr. Nixon have filed reports listing expenditures as "none." They say this is because the President is not yet a candidate. This, technically, is true but even in the case of avowed candidates, many reports are delinquent.

Thus the basic intent of the law is being circumvented.

The reform legislation was designed to eliminate the concept of government for sale, a very real danger posed by the fact that campaign contributions by special interests and wealthy individuals were used to purchase political favors and influence. It had been thought that prompt disclosure would enable the press and the public to see the actions of both candidates and appointive officials against a backdrop of who financed them. The individual who wants nothing for his money but honest government is rare.

Pending the millenium when the brunt of election costs will be borne by public financing and when individual contributions will be specifically limited in size, the new law is a theoretical improvement over what had been in existence. But not until public pressure forces complete compliance can it really become effective.

WASHINGTON — Patrick Gray 3rd got off to an unconvincing start as the new boss of the FBI by pleading with newsmen: "None of you guys are going to believe this — and I don't know how to make you believe it — but there are no dossiers or secret files."

We will be happy to tell poor Pat, since he's new around the FBI, where some of the secret files are stashed. As a starter, he might ask to see the Jane Fonda file, No. 100-459279. The FBI apparently considers the tiny, if sometimes turbulent, Miss Fonda a menace to the nation. She recently won the Academy Award as Hollywood's best actress. But her most faithful fans are G-men, who monitor her performances around the world and submit detailed reports on her antiwar routines.

The Fonda file is stuffed with reports marked "Confidential" and "Secret." One entry, dated April 30, 1971, is stamped "Top Secret — No Foreign Dissemination — No Dissemination abroad."

This hush-hush document alleges darkly: "Between November 1970 and April 1971, Fonda toured college campuses across the country making antiwar speeches. A source advised (the FBI) the North Vietnamese Embassy in Moscow bought a plane ticket for Fonda to travel from the United States to Moscow and Hanoi via Paris on 3-17-71, though the trip was discontinued as all visas to North Vietnam were later cancelled."

Black Secret
By perusing the secret FBI files, Pat Gray can also find out who's who and what's new in the black community. There's hardly an important black leader who doesn't rate a full FBI file.

For example, Gray can learn from reading the Coretta King file, No. 100-6351, that the martyred Martin Luther King's widow has hired the Byron Detective agency to "maintain security" at her Atlanta home. This tidbit is stamped merely "Confidential," although there's a lot of equally irrelevant information labeled "Secret."

Or Gray may be interested to discover from a "Secret" entry in the Ralph Abernathy file, No. 100-442706, that King's successor at the Southern Christian Leadership Conference was "considering resigning as president, because of lack of cooperation from officers."

Even one of President Nixon's stalwart black supporters, Floyd McKissick, is kept under regular FBI surveillance. His file, No. 100-446386, contains a full background report on his activities labeled "Secret — No Foreign Dissemination."

Gray can also keep up with the world travels of James Baldwin, the famous black novelist, by reading file No. 62-108763. An entry, dated Dec. 23, 1969, and marked "Secret — No Foreign Dissemination," confides:

"NY T-1, another government agency which conducts intelligence investigations, advised on July 31, 1969, that James Baldwin arrived at Istanbul, Turkey, from Athens, Greece, via Air France on July 13, 1969."

There followed excerpts from the August 18, 1969, edition of the Turkish newspaper "Milliyet," also stamped a deep, dark "Secret."

Or Gray can read all about the personal affairs of Harry Belafonte, the talented black actor, by snooping through file No. 100-394716. A "Secret" background report starts off with the information that the "subject's true name is Harold George Belafonte."

Movie Gossip
The new FBI chief will find all sorts of titillating tidbits in the files of such movie stars as Marlon Brando, Paul Newman, Rock Hudson, Tony Randall, Zero Mostel and others. None of them are accused of any crimes or suspected subversion. But the FBI keeps files on them anyhow.

Or, if Gray is a football fan, he can glean some fascinating facts from the FBI files on the likes of Joe Namath and Lance Rentzel.

For example, the FBI lists Namath under No. 505524F. His file declares: "Captioned individual, a member of the New York Jets of the American Football League has never been the subject of an FBI investigation."

Yet the FBI has kept a faithful account of such miscellany as the report "from a reliable source that he frequents The Pusseyat Bar in New York City."

Above all, newsmen should be skeptical — as Gray suggested they would be — that "there are no dossiers or secret files."

One dogged investigative reporter, I.F. Stone, file No. 100-37078, is checked out regularly by the FBI. A typical entry, dated March 17, 1967, and stamped "Confidential," reports:

"During 1966, subject spoke at several anti-Vietnam affairs. In his talks he was critical of the United States handling and participation in the Vietnam War."

"In February, 1966, subject observed to meet at a Second Secretary (press) of the Embassy of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, Washington, D. C., at a Washington D. C. restaurant. Throughout most FBI files is scattered gossip about the sex lives of the subjects, indicating that the FBI spends considerable time snooping into the bedrooms of prominent people."

If Pat Gray still doubts that the FBI keeps secret files, he will be happy to show him some xeroxed copies.

World's Longest Running Serial

David Lawrence Says

Clouds on Horizon

WASHINGTON — There is worry inside European governments and worry inside Asian lands as well. The big question is: What is Soviet policy really going to be and will President Nixon be able to reach an agreement with the leaders of the Moscow regime?

Possibly some of the concern arises from the sudden turn in the Vietnam War. Why did the Russians, instead of working with the United States to end the Conflict there through peace negotiations at Paris, supply more arms and weapons to the North Vietnamese?

Certainly the United States is the one nation on which many countries in the world depend for defense. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization, for example, is being urged by Russia to cut down its military establishment, but the United States is not likely to agree to this unless there is a corresponding reduction in the size of Soviet Armies in Eastern European states controlled by Russia.

Meanwhile, the feeling persists that the power of the Soviets is being asserted. There are clouds on the horizon because of a belief that the cause of peace is not being advanced.

President Nixon's mission, of course, is regarded in every country as a crucial affair. Will the President of the United States accomplish agreements that show a new trend in Soviet policy, or will he find there has been no shift in the sternness of the Communist attitude toward the non-Communist world?

Governments are speculating about the future, and hope is being expressed that Mr. Nixon will be able to turn the tide. But nobody knows just how such a change will be effected, and most governments are pessimistic. They believe the Soviets' continuing support of Hanoi in the Vietnam War is evidence of how Russian policy is going. There are signs that better American relations with Mainland China are developing and that Peking will be found on the side of those who are working for peace.

The big query, however, is why the Soviets are not ready to join in the worldwide effort to stop all wars, including the Vietnam War, and devote the resources of every country to humanitarian purposes instead of to preparations for regional conflicts and the loss of many hundreds of thousands of lives.

The Soviets have their hand in the Mideast situation, where they are supporting and supplying Egypt. They played a part in the India-Pakistan trouble and doubtless believe they now have a right to bases in the South Pacific for naval purposes.

Military experts point to the slow process of negotiations to limit the use of nuclear weapons. So it may be said that if diplomatic processes fail, it is conceivable that circumstances may arise that could lead to a third World War.

The people of the United States never believed they would get involved in the First World War or the Second World War, but they eventually found themselves in both.

President Nixon is a very careful and restrained negotiator. When he reaches Moscow, he will make every effort to convince the Soviets that more can be accomplished for the Soviet people by an era of peace than by another World War, and that small as well as large wars must be avoided.

The President has other cards to play. He is sure that the Soviet Union can participate in world trade on a larger scale and that the people of Russia could receive the benefits of a greater production, making possible the purchase of necessary goods. Mr. Nixon feels that commercial relationships with Russia can be substantially improved, and he intends to suggest many ways by which this can be done.

Above all, however, the President wants the assurances that Moscow will join with the rest of the world in eliminating war. He will argue that a start can be made by ending the Vietnam conflict, on which the Soviet Union has been spending millions of dollars in arms and supplies for several years.

The President's trip comes at a time when the nations of the world are worried about the future and when the cause of peace needs the urgent support of Moscow as well as the other governments of Asia and Europe, so that a "generation of peace" may ensue.

Ray Cromley Says

Thieu Is a Viet Roadblock

WASHINGTON (NEA) — South Vietnam's early May military defeats are rooted in Nguyen Van Thieu's one-man presidential race last year.

This election, in which all opposition was eliminated or eliminated itself, shocked many Americans. As things have turned out, it proved even more disastrous for Thieu himself.

There are signs the results eroded much of his confidence. Friends say he is not sure of himself or of his position, that he doesn't feel he knows where he stands. He isn't certain of his public backing or his strength. He is afraid of making enemies, particularly among men who might possibly be able to mount a coup, which means the military. Frequently he waits to act until his back is against the wall — as now.

Fourteen months ago this reporter was told by a Saigonese close to Thieu that he, Thieu, had made up his mind that 10 to 15 per cent of South Vietnam's generals, colonels and majors were so inefficient, corrupt or unaggressive in battle that they must be replaced.

Thieu was determined to act. But he didn't. He kept putting off the hard decision.

Yet the current military defeats, directly the result of incompetent generals, colonels and majors, illustrate how tragic Thieu's procrastination was.

According to word reaching this reporter, Thieu has again informed his friends that he is determined to go through with the purges. Hopefully these firings of incompetents will be carried out in depth. But don't count on it.

His friends say that in this crisis it will be easier for Thieu to act. He knows what he must do and that he can no longer delay. The problem is that Thieu may only half do the job. He may fire those generals he finds he must — as on the Quang Tri Hue front — and a few more. Then grow cautious, saying that the middle of battle is no time to sack high officers.

He will be encouraged in that caution by all the relatives, friends, political sponsors and other patrons of these men.

In Vietnam, where family is so important, one man, even a president, requires a great deal of courage indeed to demote, or even to fail to promote a relative, especially a relative of his wife's family. Or to do the same for the family of an important associate or other key military or political figure.

There was a time when Thieu seemed to be gaining in confidence. American advisors, and even Vietnamese who were not on his side politically, were agreed he was starting to make strong and courageous decisions in the right direction. There was considerable agreement that he had the correct instincts in key areas — on military officers, on wiping out corruption and on making the rough economic reforms necessary for progress.

Then came the one-man election. Thieu seemed to lose his nerve. As noted above, friends asserted he began to wonder who would hold with him in the crunch and to question what power he had to enforce decisions.

Thieu has been pictured at times as a military dictator, a strongman. But the evidence these men present is the opposite. They describe a man unable to make up his mind, who keeps checking, rechecking and then double rechecking before taking action — then often as not deciding after all to wait for another time.

Now the question is will military defeats change Thieu's caution into resolution. If not, the consensus here is that whatever weapons the United States sends, and however much air power the United States applies, the situation will grow steadily worse.

Nursery School Helps Children and Parents

YOUNGSTERS IN NURSERY SCHOOL

KINGSTON With the week of May 14 designated as national week of the Young Child, the Children's Rehabilitation Center, Kingston, supervised by Mrs. Eve Green, a creative and patient woman, the nursery is actually an extension of the various therapies with Mrs. Oskay working in conjunction with the consultant and the consultant specialist. Each child benefits from a highly specialized, individualized, structured program designed to meet his specific needs and the overall program of the school functions under the supervision of a physical therapist, a speech-hearing therapist, and four consultant specialists. Mrs. Oskay is also assisted by a volunteer on the four mornings a week the nursery school is in session.

The school room itself is bright and cheerful and contains a wide assortment of carefully selected play materials that encourage individual and group participation. A well-equipped outdoor playground, safety-fenced, is adjacent to the nursery.

Mrs. Charlotte Peck, administrator of the center, explained, "essentially the goal of the nursery school is the preparation of youngsters for admission to public school. In September, 1971, 101 children were graduated."

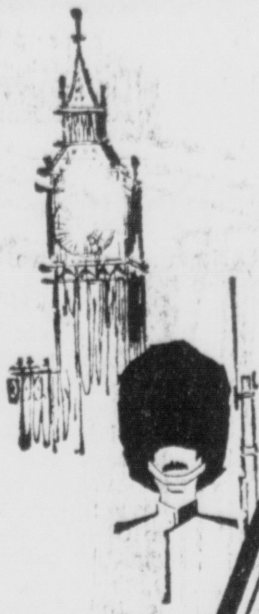

Nursery school hours are from 9:30 to 12, four mornings a week.

Koenig Vetoes Signal Lights

KINGSTON Mayor Francis R. Koenig has vetoed two pieces of traffic legislation which were passed unanimously by the Common Council at its May 2 meeting.

The mayor vetoed legislation which would have provided flashing amber lights at the corner of Wall Street and Franklin Street and legislation for a flashing red light at the corner of West O'Reilly Street and a flashing amber light at Wilbur Avenue.

In his veto message to the Council, Koenig said, "The proposal for traffic signalization on Wall Street at the intersection of Franklin Street appears to have no means for channeling the two lanes of traffic coming from the Boulevard to Franklin."

"The proposal for Wilbur Avenue at West O'Reilly would not allow sufficient funds in the Traffic Control Account due to expenditures for signalization at Hunter and Abeel Streets, Henry Street and Clinton Avenue and Albany Avenue and Foxhall Avenue at Roosevelt Avenue. I would recommend that your traffic committee take into consideration budgetary allocations when considering these proposed traffic installations," Koenig wrote.

The Council now has the choice of accepting the mayor's vetoes, overriding the vetoes or revising the legislation in accord with the mayor's wishes.

Firemen Quell Mini-Blaze

KINGSTON Five fire units responded to a box alarm sounded at 4:35 p.m. Wednesday after fire erupted in a mini-bike at German and Ravine Streets.

On arrival firemen found the vehicle fully enveloped in flames. Pressurized water from Engine 3 was used to quell the flames that heavily damaged the mini-bike owned by Alfred Buzzanco of 35 Hone Street. Fire records noted that repairs were being made to the muffler when the engine ignited gasoline.

Captain Philip Greer was in charge of firemen at the scene.

Rosendale Requests Light

ROSENDALE The Rosendale Town Board has asked the New York State Department of Transportation to install a traffic light at the corner of Lucas Turnpike and Cottick Road northwest of the village of Rosendale.

Supervisor Gerard Defelicio and members of the town board received a petition at Wednesday night meeting bearing 230 names of town residents who asked for a signal at the intersection, which was the scene of a fatal accident recently.

Defelicio said he had already attempted to have the signal installed but had been unsuccessful to date. He said the board would ask the Ulster County Legislature to use its influence to have a signal installed, because Ulster County Community College is nearby and traffic from the school makes heavy use of the intersection.

Defelicio announced that two surplus U. S. Army cargo carrier trucks would soon be made available to the town for use by the highway department. The vehicles are made available by Civil Defense authorities, who retain the right to recall the vehicles for three years before turning them over to the town permanently. The vehicles are stored in a depot in New Jersey and will be delivered as soon as they are processed, Defelicio said.

Lee Comar of Rosendale was named by the board to head the town's new Environmental Conservation Commission. The board will fill six other seats on the nine-member commission, with the final two places being filled by the commissioners themselves.

The Executive Committee includes Past Commanders P. J. Beichert, Robert R. Graves, Murphy, Roger Mabie, Chester W. Barth and Edgar Maurer. Delegates to the Ulster County American Legion Convention will be Commander Bohan, Schubert and Henry. Alternates will be Murphy, Cole and Maurer.

The Post also named their Boys State representative for the annual Legion Boys State convention at the State University of New York at Morrisville, June 25-July 1. James P. Gualtieri, a junior at Kingston High School where he played on the football team. The son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gualtieri of Port Ewen, he plans to study dentistry after graduation from high school.

Detectives Investigate Burglary

KINGSTON An inventory taken at the Sunoco Gas Station at 327 Broadway on Wednesday disclosed that equipment and cash worth close to $700 had been taken during an apparent burglary.

Detectives reported the manager of the station, William Leskody, allegedly discovered the place had been entered and an investigation showed entry was gained by smashing glass in an overhead door. The intruders ransacked the establishment and apparently broke into the back room.

According to police reports, $342.44 in cash was taken along with equipment that included a Street, Locke valued the radio variety of tools and rain jackets, at $200.

Detectives today also were investigating a complaint from a Broadway resident that involved an alleged attempt to fleece her out of $450.

The woman, police reports noted, said two unidentified males riding in a truck with an Indiana license, told her they would tar the roof of her front porch and the gutters for $20. The job was completed within 20 minutes and then the men allegedly told the woman the cost would be $450. She refused to pay and the men reduced the charge to $40.

The resident, whose name was not released, called police to complain and the men drove off. City police also are investigating a complaint from William Locke of Box 112, Ruby, who reported someone allegedly stole a short wave radio from his boat at Dwyer's Boat Basin on Abeel

Settlement Is Made

KINGSTON An award of $35,000 was made to Arlene H. DePuy and Donald F. DePuy in a Supreme Court case which was settled in the chambers of Supreme Court Justice Earl Schramm Jr. Wednesday.

The DePuy's, represented by William Curran of Rosendale brought suit against John Johnson as the result of an automobile accident. Johnson was represented by Charles H. Carpenter.

Another case continued in Supreme Court Wednesday before presiding Justice Louis G. Bruhn in which the plaintiffs were Louis A. and Vivian Guiglotto.

A motor vehicle negligence action, the defendants were Effella Harris and John Mason. The Guiglotto's were represented by Milton S. Herman and Harris and Mason were represented by MacDonnell and Calger.

Committee Formed To Select Principal

A committee to select a principal for Haviland Junior High School has been appointed by Superintendent of the Hyde Park School District Kenneth R. DePree to replace present Principal Kenneth Bothwell, who plans to pursue a doctoral degree at Rutgers next year.

Making up the committee are five Haviland teachers. They are: Henry Bernazza, Daniel DeFrancis, Brian McIntyre, John Hoffert, and David Vertullo.

Also serving on the committee are Dr. Frank Gray, Assistant Superintendent for Instruction; Dr. Mario D. Fantini, Dean of the Faculty of Education, SUNY at New Paltz; and Dr. George Sullivan, Professor in the Department of School Administration at New Paltz and Director of Research and Development for the Mid-Hudson Schools Study Council.

Dr. DePree also serves on the committee.

The superintendent described the position as a "unique professional opportunity" in view of the recently initiated cooperative effort between New Paltz and Hyde Park to develop Haviland into "an exemplary junior high school."

It is anticipated that the school will eventually become an extension of the college by providing pre-professional experience for prospective junior high school teachers who are enrolled at New Paltz.

The committee expects to make its recommendation to the Board of Education late in May.

Bajaj Heads Sustaining Drive In the Woodstock Region

KINGSTON responsible for the Bearsville, Wittenberg area; Adam H. Rajkumar K. Bajaj, Whitney Drive, Woodstock, has been named chairman of the Sustaining Membership Enrollment for the Woodstock area by Jeffrey Sanders, chairman of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America. The drive started through May 15.

Bajaj is a project manager at IBM, Kingston. He moved here in 1964 following his completion of a Master Degree at Worcester Polytechnical Institute. His wife, Sheila, is a teacher in Woodstock and they have one child, a girl, Shalini.

In India where Rajkumar was born and raised, Scouting is altogether different than in this country. Scouting is only for the privileged classes and doesn't appeal to the masses as it does here.

At the present time, five team captains have been recruited to conduct the campaign. Vernon DeGraff, Mandel Road, will be responsible for the Bearsville, Wittenberg area; Adam H. Bronski, Maverick Road, the Maverick Park area; Noel France, Patricia Lane, the Glasco Turnpike; Max Hauser, Briarwood Lane, the Village Section and Fred Schreiner, Van De Bogart Road, the Zena area.

Sustaining Membership Enrollment is a method to supplement the income of the Rip Van Winkle Council, B.S.A. forty-five per cent of the budget is provided by the Ulster County United Way. This will be a restricted drive conducted among previous supporters of Scouting, Scout Leaders and parents of boys in the program.

Bajaj said, "the local Scout Council won the top award in the State of New York this year for the greatest percentage of growth of any Scout Council. One out of every three boys in the local area take part in the program. Last year 6,700 boys and leaders were involved. Each week in Scouting with 14 new Scout Units organized. He

An acquaintance told us about a large sign he saw at the entrance of a U.S. military establishment, which read: "Peace is our Profession." He said, "Deeds rather than words are the proof, and our national deeds prove that Peace IS the Profession of our armed forces. It has been when we weren't carrying a big stick that enemies decided they could be victorious enemies, and we were then forced to protect ourselves." . . . In this way, Mrs. Stoutenberg said, the private organization will be able to turn the animals over to the municipality knowing it will have the final determination on whether the animals will be experimented with or not.

The bill under consideration would amend the Public Health Law adding a new subdivision. This subdivision states that where a municipality contracts with a private organization to send its unlicensed, unwanted or unclaimed animals to such private organization for care and final disposition, the commissioner may not requisition such animals for any purpose without the consent of the private organization.

There would be no fiscal implications, Mrs. Stoutenberg said.

CONTI (R), MILLIKEN CHECK PLANS Conti Site Plans Near Completion

TOWN OF ULSTER business involvement and expressed his faith in the future development of the Hudson Valley region.

Conti is generally credited with being responsible for the tightening of the so-called "Dynamite Purchase Laws" in New York State.

Following the New York City bomb explosions and the discovery of a dynamite cache in the Woodstock area, attention was focused on the laxity in the dynamite purchase regulations in the state.

Conti, as one of the few professional dynamiters in the Hudson Valley, was asked by the newsmen to comment on the easy availability of dynamite to radical groups.

The story was brought to the attention of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who expressed shock and then initiated legislative action that resulted in the tough new dynamite purchase laws.

The architect for the proposed Conti facility is Robert E. Milliken of the Kingston based firm of Albert E. Milliken Associates. Through the architectural plans the luxury of superbly detailed masonry, glass and stucco and the carefully ostentatiousness of the setting create an ideal balance for the new headquarters of the Conti explosive concern.

Located south of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge on Flatbush Avenue in the Town of Ulster, the proposed building's low, long form blends with the natural site and backdrop of the Hudson River.

Conti, president of the company, stressed the need for local

Evans Looks To Good Quarter

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Evans Products Company expects excellent operating results in its second quarter this year. J. Kenneth Brody, executive vice president-administration, today told the Providence Society of Financial Analysts that results of the second quarter will continue strong following a fine first quarter. Evans' record first quarter net earnings of $3,178,000 were 49 per cent over last year's first quarter earnings of $2,131,000 on a 33 per cent increase in revenues to $180 million from $135 million a year earlier. Primary earnings per common share in the first quarter were 19 cents, up from 15 cents in the prior period. He added that the year's primary net earnings per common share would probably exceed the 20 per cent increase previously forecast by the company.

Brody predicted that the homes group, the nation's leading producer of pre-cut, code-approved housing, would achieve record levels of revenues and units sold this year. He anticipated that the group would sell in excess of 8,000 homes in 1972, up from 6,213 units in 1971 and 4,853 units in 1970. The group has the highest order file in its history. It recently introduced its new line of low-cost Evanway Homes at Atlanta, Georgia sales and model homes complex.

Brody said that the retail group also was expected to produce record sales and earnings this year. With 170 retail building materials stores, including four in Rhode Island, the group is the largest building materials retailer in the north-eastern United States. It is planning to expand its activities nationwide. Together, the retail and homes groups contributed 53 per cent of the operating earnings of all Evans' groups in 1971. Evans Products Co. is the parent company of Grossman's Lumber. A Grossman's store is located in Kingston on Ulster Avenue Mall.

New Legion Facilities Dedicated

TILLSON Post and Auxiliary took part in the ceremony, attended by local government officials, scouting groups and the general public. The hall and pavilion have been used in the past as the main meeting place for scouting groups, other worthwhile non-political organizations, as well as Legion and Auxiliary meetings. Commander McNamara noted that "these facilities have been sorely missed by these good organizations since the damage took its toll. The dedication of these new facilities marks the start of renewed use by these groups, and we were glad to see so many of them turn out and help open this hall and pavilion."

Larceny Charge Is Dismissed

KINGSTON

A charge of grand larceny third degree filed against Peter H. Meurer, 42, of 100 Randall Avenue, Freeport, last Nov. 27, has been dismissed, according to police records.

Meurer had been arrested by detectives in connection with a complaint that a snowmobile had been taken from the Sears Roebuck & Company store at the Kingston Shopping Plaza. The vehicle was recovered. Meurer pleaded innocent at arraignment later in City Court and the case was subsequently referred to the grand jury. The district attorney's records show that the grand jury returned a "no bill" exonerating Meurer of the charge.

Refugees Flow Into Da Nang

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) —

Vietnam's great river of sorrow is at flood tide again as hundreds of thousands of refugees stream out of their homes and villages, away from the enemy, away from the bombings and the artillery barrages.

By boat and army truck, they come in an endless flow of misery, on foot, on motorbikes, on incredibly overloaded buses from places that are no more. Dong Ha, Quang Tri, Cam Lo.

Da Nang is the mouth of the great river; more than 300,000 homeless have poured into the lovely old French port at the bottom of the 3,000-foot-high Hai Van Pass, the Pass of the Clouds.

Some never get there at all. The carcasses of two army trucks and a bus that once ran from Dong Ha to Hue to Da Nang lie in deep ravines among a rubble of shattered crates and suitcases, mute testimony to the treacherous curves on the winding, climbing road through the pass.

A few days ago a wooden and straw junk, loaded with 110 refugees, capsized and sank in a storm along the coast.

American civilians, working with Vietnamese welfare officials estimate 250,000 persons are trapped in the northern villages between the new front line above Hue and the demilitarized zone.

Camp Books, which the U.S. 1st Marine Division vacated two years ago, is a ghost town come back to life. Families from Dong Ha and Cam Lo, which the Marines once secured and pacified, hang their washing and cook their noon-day rice in the screened-in barracks still bearing the signs: "Gunnery Sergeant's Hooch," "Exchange Laundry Shop," "Personnel Decon Station," "Company Mess Hall."

For some, from the country, the living is easier than they have ever known electricity, fresh water, plumbing, housing with tin roofs, wooden floors and screens. Vietnamese public health officers visit the eight military camps reclaimed from the past, lecturing the people on how to use the toilets.

The best organized refugee center is Camp Land, a former U.S. prison stockade still ringed with watchtowers and 12-foot high concertinas of triple mesh barbed wire. The camp's self-government committee, meeting in what once was the warden's office, has organized bus service into town, schooling for the children and a project of straw-hat-making to raise some community funds.

On the road into Da Nang, by the old French fort at the top of the Pass of the Clouds, little girls in conical hats sell slices of watermelon and loaves of French bread to the homeless hordes.

The few personal possessions that the refugees carry on their backs or sling across the radiator show a bizarre and pathetic range of priorities: A large fishing net. An electric fan. Two sewing machines. A barber chair. A large wooden bed, almost hiding the Jeep beneath it. Two love birds in a cage. A favorite cooking pot. And lashed to the tops and the tailboards of almost every truck winding up through the pass, a tangle of motorbikes and bicycles.

Everywhere, children of all sizes, the big ones carrying the little ones, mothers breast feeding the infants on the backboards of 2½-ton trucks.

Da Nang, its population almost doubled by the influx of refugees, has become a vast open central market, where food is plentiful and, for the moment, money, too. Fresh spring vegetables reached the city just in time to miss being grabbed up by the enemy offensive. There is plenty of rice thanks to stockpiling after last year's typhoon and floods. All nine bakeries have gone on overtime shifts to supply bread to the refugees under an emergency government program.

On a temporary basis, Da Nang and its huge bases left by the Americans can house another 100,000 refugees, but the city has nothing to offer in the way of work. The American troop withdrawal already has caused an economic recession, and there are no industries of any kind.

Apollo Astronaut Bails Out of Jet

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The third man to walk on the moon bailed out of his Navy jet Wednesday night and floated down to within 100 yards of the Bergstrom Air Force Base operations center near here.

The T38 aircraft of astronaut Charles C. Conrad Jr., 41, nose-dived into a field in the Texas hill country two miles from Bergstrom.

Witnesses said only a tail section bearing the letters "NASA" was recognizable. A spokesman at the Manned Spacecraft Center outside Houston confirmed that the pilot was Conrad and that he was "okay." He underwent routine tests at Bergstrom.

Conrad is scheduled to command the first long-term Skylab mission in Space, now set for next April. It will last 28 days.

Esopus Board ... Moratorium

PORT EWEN — The Port Ewen, Connelly and Sleightsburg area and the second on May 23 for the remainder of the township, including Rifton, Esopus, West Park and Ulster Park. The Town Board passed a resolution expressing its support of a plan to replace the two town justices on the Town Board with two councilmen. If approved, the plan would take effect after the 1973 general elections.

Correspondence was received from the developer of the proposed Esopus Gardens apartment complex stating that a new well has been dug at the site which is yielding 20 gallons of water per minute. The plan, however, still needs the approval of the Planning Board.

Esopus Supervisor George Freer termed the complaints "justifiable" and said the study would be conducted "as quickly as possible."

The Town Board will conduct two public hearings tonight on the extension of the Port Ewen Water District. Freer explained that the hearings are a "technicality," required by the New York State Department of Audit and Control. The hearings begin at 7:30 p.m. The Town Board is still awaiting approval from Audit and Control for the water district extension.

Two cleanup days will be held in the Town of Esopus this year; the first on May 22 for

Spit and Polish Indians' Theme

KINGSTON, N.Y. — "Spit and Polish, Spit and Polish" has become the spring theme song of the Kingston Indians Drum and Bugle Corps and they don't mean shoes.

"Spit" in the time honored tradition of the manual laborer, who spit on his hands before grabbing the pick handle, was the symbol of getting down to the nitty-gritty of hard work. The handle couldn't slip if the job was to get done. As the Corps members would say, "Man, we gotta get it all together. We can't slip!" And that's what it was all about for the Indians in Bridgeport, Conn., Saturday, April 28 "Spit and Polish" in both music and drill.

On Sunday afternoon, the Indians presented their complete musical repertoire at the March of Dimes fund-raising Crusade, the Brass Expo, held in the Klein Memorial Auditorium. They shared the spotlight with two of the first-ranked Senior Corps and four other Junior Corps.

The Corps' regular instructors, who reside in Bridgeport, arranged for three nationally recognized expert drum corps instructors, who have taught the top corps in the country, to evaluate and work with the Indians in the areas of bugles, drumming and field drill Saturday.

The Indians arrived in Bridgeport aboard their two newly purchased and repainted white and red buses at the Congdon American Legion Post headquarters. After lunch, the Corps assembled on a pre-arranged drill area for a stiff rehearsal session. Four and one-half hours later, the member's morale got a rousing boost when the consultants told them that they had a Class "A" show, and with continued hard work and a driving, winning spirit, they were ready to break into the "big-time." They topped off the evening with another three hours of energetic music rehearsal following a dinner break.

The generosity of Kingston U-Haul provided a 20 foot van to transport all the uniforms, instruments and sleeping bags.

The Indians' 1972 repertoire is the most varied, imaginative and difficult ever presented by the Corps. Their first local demonstration of their talents will be "in exhibition" at their own Pow-Wow Preview Show in Deitz Stadium, May 28, at 7 p.m., for which tickets are now on sale.

This year's Pow-Wow Preview will begin their field competition season, and will present the finest array of Corps ever to appear in this increasingly popular show. In competition will be the Magnificent Yankees, Utica, the N.Y.S. Champions; Monarch, Wayne, N.J.; St. George Olympians (Springfield, Mass.); the Surfers, New London, Conn.; Emerald Cadets, New Haven, Conn.; the Troy Speigleaires and the New York Knickerbockers.

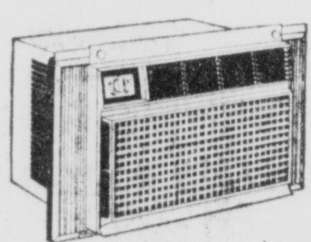

The Kingston Indians' Pow-Wow of Junior Champions Invitational Show will be held in Deitz Stadium July 30.

BIG CHIEF — Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature, donned a headband and feather recently to proclaim Saturday, May 13, as Kingston Indians Ulster County Booster Day. More than 3,000 boys and girls have participated in the nationally acclaimed drum and bugle corps since it was founded under the auspices of Boy Scout Troop 12 in 1939. Three of its present members surrounded Savago during the proclamation ceremonies: (l-r) Milton Finch, Michael LaLima and Patricia Lane. The group is presently conducting a fund raising campaign.

RHINEBECK
The Rhinebeck Town Board took steps Wednesday night to have a large Rhinecliff building demolished and replaced by a parking lot and park area.

The Newman Building at the corner of Shatzell and Charles Streets is the target for this action, to be implemented through a condemnation proceedings for public use through the town attorney's auspices.

The building has long been considered an eyesore by area residents, is vacant and the target of vandals, and will hopefully solve some parking problems in Rhinecliff.

The Board also appointed Marsha Lancto, Chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals, succeeding Arthur Carl June 1.

And it approved the erection of lighting at three points in town to rectify hazardous road intersection dangers, including the intersection of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge approach and River Road. The Board Expressed a preference for the blinking yellow light at that intersection.

Progress on reviving the Rhinecliff ferry dock as a recreation area will be forwarded Saturday when numerous town residents band together to clean up the area.

Future improvements are planned.

A policy was made regarding the joint town-village recreation program stating that only resident children of the town and village may participate in programs, with the exception of those held on Rhinebeck Central School property as specified by the Board of Education.

Councilman Louis Asher said that this was precipitated by an overcrowding of the ice skating area at the Dutchess County Fairgrounds.

A public hearing has been set for 8 p.m. at the town hall May 31 on a planned development specifications and a zoning amendment concerned with gravel bank location and operation.

Newly appointed highway superintendent Orrin Van Etter attended his first Town Board meeting, noting that there is much road work to be done and reporting 85 truckloads of debris picked up during the spring cleanup period.

The Board expressed sympathy to the relatives of former Town Board member Robert Forbes, who died suddenly Wednesday afternoon. He served on the board during the Supervisor William Allen reported happy news that the Department of Transportation has approved funds under the

Donovan Plan for this year totaling $3,500 for the renovation

And said that the per capita aid was down only slightly, where the budget had anticipated a ten per cent cut, thus giving the town some breathing room in the general fund.

And it was noted that state auditors are currently reviewing the town books.

The Board will investigate the erection of signs on Mt. Rutzen Road prohibiting through traffic of vehicles over 5,000 pounds. The road is presently used as a shortcut by many tractor-trailers coming from the bridge through Rhinebeck.

Spring Concert Set At New Paltz College

The Symphonic Band of the State University College at New Paltz will present its Spring Concert in the College's McKenna Theatre on Friday and Saturday, May 12 and 13, at 8:30 p.m. The highlight of the program will be a presentation of Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf" narrated by Dr. John J. Neumaier, president of the College. First performed in Moscow in 1936, this symphonic fairy tale was intended to teach children the instruments of the orchestra. The story, in which each character is represented by a different instrument, is the tale of a boy, Peter, who despite the warnings of his grandfather goes out into the meadow. There he meets the wolf, who has succeeded in scaring the life out of a cat, a bird, and a duck. The wolf, however, is unable to frighten Peter who captures him and leads him to a zoo. In addition, the concert will feature "Tulsa, A Symphonic Portrait in Oil" by Don Gillis; the first movement of Vivaldi's "Concerto in C. for Piccolo"; the "Suite Francaise" by Darius Milhaud; and Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture." Conducting will be William McCann, assistant professor of music at the College.

Marlboro Judge Is Recommended For State Honors

MARLBORO He is a life member and chairman of the Board of Fire Commissioners, member of Milton Hose Company, Marlboro Progress Club, St. James Holy Name Society and Marlboro-Milton Lions Club.

The name of Town of Marlboro Justice Patrick Mataraza has been recommended to the State Magistrate's Association as a candidate for "Man of the Year."

In a letter to Judge Edmund A. McCarthy of Little Falls, Judge Ronald Elias, president of the Ulster County Magistrate's Association cites Mataraza for "always actively promoting the legal education of our fellow justices" and for probably running the most efficient court in Ulster County.

Elias said he is highly recommended by members of the Bar Association and by law enforcement officials.

Mataraza has been judge in Marlboro for eight years and was reelected to a four-year term in 1971.

He is a past president of the Ulster County Magistrate's Association and has been secretary for the past four years.

He is past president of the Marlborough School Board and served as trustee of the school.

POUGHKEEPSIE

The Mid-Hudson Hebrew Day School has announced that it plans to begin classes for kindergarten and first grade in September 1972 in the city of Poughkeepsie.

The school, an affiliate of the Solomon Schechter Day School Association, will be a bi-cultural school dedicated to providing a maximum secular and Jewish education to the children of this area.

Although new to the Hudson Valley, the Solomon Schechter day schools have been elsewhere for more than 15 years. There are presently 45 affiliated schools in the United States and Canada, with new ones forming every year.

Now that we're making it, we're making it bigger.

When we came to your town in 1970, we were scared. We knew it was tough to make it here. And we knew it would be even tougher with a name like Dr Pepper.

But you gave us a chance. And in New York, if you're good, all you really need is a chance.

And now that we're getting bigger, so are our bottles. We're introducing a big 48 ounce bottle just for New York. It's called the Party Size.

This resealable giant is the most economical and convenient way you can buy Dr Pepper.

And it's a great thing to have around when you find yourself playing host to a lot of people.

Some Just Refuse to Learn

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1972, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Have you a solution to this problem? Our brother married this lovely girl who happens to be of a different race.

She is intelligent and respectable. The problem is our parents refuse to meet her. It has been two years now and we, the younger generation of the family, are getting fed up.

We know that our parents are prejudiced because of their own upbringing, but how can they judge her without even meeting her?

What can we do? There are six of us.

THE KLAN
DEAR KLAN: Prejudice is caused by ignorance. The only cure for ignorance is education. There is nothing you can do for those who refuse to learn. Don't fight it; it's their loss.

DEAR ABBY: I read a letter in your column about a couple who announced on their 25th wedding anniversary that they were being divorced. The writer asked, "Can anybody top this?"

Well I can:

A Chicago couple was being honored on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. After the dinner, the golden wedding couple were appropriately toasted, then the bride of 50 years stood up and said, "Herman and I have had 50 years of marriage. It hasn't always been a bed of roses. In fact, it has been rougher than most of your know. I like Palm Springs, Herman liked Miami. (We always went to Miami.) I like Canasta, Herman liked the horse races. (We went to the races.) I wanted to travel and see the world. Herman thought one trip (to Miami) a year was plenty, so we never went anywhere else.

"We've raised our children and they are raising theirs. We have done our duty, but what I am getting at is this: Please don't be surprised if you hear that we are calling this partnership quits."

Some thought Mamma had a little bit too much champagne. Maybe she did. But three months later Herman went to Miami and she went to Palm Springs, and they now have a legal separation. TRUE STORY IN CHICAGO

DEAR ABBY: I've never felt compelled to write to you before, but the letter from the mother who heartily disapproved when her husband announced to their children that he had SOLD his class notebooks evokes this response.

There is a vast difference between selling notes and selling exam papers. As a student and graduate of two colleges, I fail to find anything immoral about selling or buying notes. I didn't sell mine only because I didn't think of it. I GAVE them away.

If the student who buys notes, uses them to his detriment, depending upon the second hand notes solely, and not paying attention in class to take his own notes, then that is his misfortune. But buying notes or reviewing notes of one who may have been more proficient at note-taking as an additional resource should not be frowned upon by student, teacher, parent, or Abby. EDUCATION MAJOR

DEAR MAJOR: You could be right since one goes to school to LEARN, and if he in fact learns, he has achieved his objective. But some teachers may take a dim view of students who instead of taking their own notes, borrow (or buy) notes of others. I say, a student who has this in mind should ask his teacher how he feels about it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST ASKING." "Age" is not a factor in adoption. Many people have adopted one who is NOT a minor.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L.A. CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Weaving Is Discussed By Merry Mixers

A showing of Berta Frye's private collection of weaving samples and apparel from all over the world, dating from 100 B. C. to modern times, highlighted the May 3 meeting of the Merry Mixers which took place at the home of Mrs. J. Terry Carlisle.

Miss Frye, recently deceased, a native of Woodstock and personal friend of Mrs. Carlisle, was a nationally known weaver, author and lecturer. A large number of Miss Frye's weavings and private library of weaving books are now housed in a memorial room at the Thousand Island Museum and Craft School, Clayton, N.Y. Another outstanding work, a memorial tapestry to her sister Marie, "The Wise and Foolish Virgins," is housed in the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Corsicana Tex. The collection shown at the May 3 meeting will also be placed in a major museum.

A short business meeting preceded the program. Plans for a visual screening for Saturday, May 20 were discussed. Members voted to sponsor Mrs. Mary Jo Brightly in the Zonta Walkathon.

Guests included Mrs. James Phillips, Mrs. Michael Warner, Mrs. John Florsch and Mrs. Alice Hutchenson. Hostesses were Mrs. Richard McAvoy and Mrs. Eugene White.

MERRY-GO-ROUNDERS IN ACTION

Interpretive Dancing About Air Pollution

A performance by Merry-Go-Rounders, appearing in "Dirty Air Is Everywhere," was given at George Washington Elementary School Tuesday, May 9. This performance was partially funded by the New York State Council on the Arts.

The idea for this production was conceived and choreographed by Judith Jacobs, and adapted by Earl Ubell, WCBS Channel 2 Science Editor. "Dirty Air Is Everywhere," because of its timeliness, has been received with great enthusiasm by both educators and students.

Harry Milgrom, director of Science, Board of Education of City of New York, has said: "It introduces children to the nature of air pollution through sights, songs, sounds and dance movements that generate great interest. Because the performance is so captivating, it can serve as a vehicle for moving the children into further exploration of the whole field of environmental pollution."

People many years ago took the gifts of the world for granted, never stopping to think that a person cannot live without clean air. As cities and towns began to grow in numbers, people's life styles changed. Although it happened slowly, suddenly people realized that clean air had become unclear.

This production deals with the "Oceans of Air" which surround us, in terms that children can understand. Merry-Go-Rounders discover that no computer can solve the smog problem. Only humans can clean up the environment.

This lively fun and factual production is produced by Center for Modern Dance Education, non-profit, educational organization located in Hackensack, N. J. The Center for Modern Dance Education has recently received a grant from The Rockefeller Foundation, part of which is appropriated for new choreography for Merry-Go-Rounders.

Merry-Go-Rounders, a national touring company, has been in existence for more than 20 years. The repertoire has been kept timely, and has delighted hundreds of thousands of youngsters throughout the country.

Dodgers Are Tired of Tug

NEW YORK (AP) — Tug bottom of the 14th inning Wednesday night. McGraw pitched a few innings in the bullpen and five more on the mound and revealed afterwards: "I'm not tired a bit." Perhaps, not. But the Los Angeles Dodgers were tired of looking at his screwball after McGraw pitched sparkling, one-hit relief as the New York Mets pulled out a 4-3 victory in the 10th inning Wednesday night.

"It's nice to have victories," said McGraw, "very nice. But it's also important to know that you're doing the job as a reliever. The arm doesn't even hurt." He doesn't figure to go five innings very often.

"But I was ready for more screwball, shut off the Dodgers after the visitors looked as if they were going to run away in the early going. Frank Robinson had a run-scoring single in the first and a homer in the third to help the Dodgers take a 3-0 lead before the Mets came back with runs in their half of the third and fifth.

New York sent the game into extra innings on Rusty Staub's home run in the eighth.

McGraw, relying on his screwball, shut off the Dodgers after the visitors looked as if they were going to run away in the early going. Frank Robinson had a run-scoring single in the first and a homer in the third to help the Dodgers take a 3-0 lead before the Mets came back with runs in their half of the third and fifth.

New York sent the game into extra innings on Rusty Staub's home run in the eighth.

No Rest This Time

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Mets and Los Angeles Dodgers had just 11 hours to rest between Wednesday nights three-hour and 43 minute game and today's day-night doubleheader.

The prospect of a short rest did not seem to bother the players and it was the usual cheerful atmosphere in the Mets' dressing room after their 4-3 14-inning victory and the gloom of a loser in the Dodger quarters.

"We'll be back at 11:45 a.m. for batting practice," said Met shortstop Bud Harrelson at 12:45 a.m. last night as he was leaving Shea Stadium.

"The brief period between games is not objectionable if you're on the winning team," said Harrelson, who scored the winning run in the marathon game. "Maybe I'd complain if we lost."

Harrelson said the Mets would give a steak dinner in the stadium dining room between today's day-night games.

Los Angeles outfielder Willie Davis didn't really care for the rapid-fire game scheduling, but said, "What the heck, you're paid to do it and you do it."

Davis said his teammates were taking the scheduling in stride and he heard no complaints over the brief period between the night-day game situation.

The day-night doubleheader was scheduled after a Tuesday night rainout.

Dodger manager Walt Alston shrugged off the question of timing and said that was a player representative problem. But the players had no beef and everyone promised they'd be on time for today's daylight game.

Willie Will Talk Too

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays meets today with officials of the San Francisco Giants and New York Mets to discuss his future in baseball.

The San Francisco superstar flew into New York Wednesday evening and announced:

"I'm here to talk and I can't say any more than that because I don't know any more."

The Mets, interested in obtaining the 41-year-old center-fielder, resumed negotiations for his services with their top official on hand—chairman of the board M. Donald Grant.

Grant was to meet with Mays and Horace Stoneham, the Giants' owner, at a downtown hotel.

Mays came in from Montreal Wednesday night while the Giants were playing a game there with the Expos at Jarry Park.

He said he would have no "hard feelings" if he were to be traded to the Mets, but insisted that he knew nothing of the negotiations involved.

"Don't put words in my mouth," he told a reporter upon his arrival at a New York airport. "I'll talk about anything else that you want to talk about—but I can't talk about something that I don't know about."

Mays waxed philosophical over the much-rumored trade. "That's the game of life... that's the game of baseball," he said.

The prospective deal was revealed last week, but the Mets cooled after the Giants demanded young players for their outfielder, probably in his last season.

But talks reopened after Mays personally was brought in on the deal. Stoneham apparently bowed to sentiment for his 21-year veteran.

TAG, YOU'RE OUT — Jerry Grote (15) of the Mets puts the tag on Dodger pitcher Al Downing as the latter tries to score on a base hit by Manny Mota in the fourth inning Wednesday. A perfect relay from center fielder Tommie Agee to second baseman Ted Martinez to Grote nipped the sliding Downing at the plate. (UPI)

Indians in First

By UPI

The Baltimore Orioles needed a bit of luck Wednesday night to keep pace with first-place Cleveland. That's right, Cleveland.

The Indians took undisputed possession of first place in the American League East for the first time since early in 1968 with a 7-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals, their eighth in the last nine games.

And Baltimore, the powerhouse of the American League for the past six years, needed a big assist from Texas catcher Ken Suarez to defeat the Rangers 1-0.

Suarez' misplay came in the ninth inning with the bases loaded and one out. Brooks Robinson grounded to third baseman Dave Nelson, who threw home to Suarez, throwing eighth in the last nine games.

McDowell Keeping His Promise to Giants

By UPI

Sam McDowell promised the San Francisco Giants last winter that he would be a different kind of pitcher in 1972 than he was with the Cleveland Indians in 1971.

He's been as good as his word but is the first to admit that his 5-0 record is also the result of being with a different kind of team—a team which scores runs when he pitches.

McDowell chalked up his fifth straight National League victory when the Giants defeated the Montreal Expos, 7-3, Wednesday night but quickly acknowledged that the Giants have scored a total of 35 runs in the games.

Garry Maddox, who doubled in the Giants' first run in the seventh, had a two-run single and Bobby Bonds and Dave Kingman each doubled during the big inning. Billy Steinman suffered his third loss of the year.

The San Diego Padres beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-3, the Houston Astros outslugged the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-7, the Atlanta Braves topped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-4, the New York Mets shaded the Los Angeles Dodgers, 4-3, in 14 innings and the Chicago Cubs downed the Cincinnati Reds, 4-2, in other National League games.

Nate Colbert hit his seventh homer of the year and Fred Kendall drove in two runs with his first as Clay Kirby pitched a five-hitter for his third win for San Diego.

Kendall's homer capped a three-run fourth inning which gave the Padres a 5-1 lead. Woody Fryman, who yielded all San Diego's runs in six innings, was the loser.

Jimmy Stewart's two-run tie-breaking triple was the big blow of a six-run eighth inning rally which carried the Astros to their triumph. Reliever Jim Ray shut out the Cardinals for the last two innings to win his fifth straight game. Bob Gibson was pounded for six runs and seven hits in seven innings although he escaped being tagged with the loss.

Lee May and Roger Metzger homered for the Astros and Ted Simmons hit a grand slam for the Cardinals.

Phil Niekro breezed to his fourth victory for the Braves included three hits each by Earl Williams and Ralph Garr. The Braves clinched the victory with a four-run seventh inning during which Williams had his third hit of the game and Dave Giusti and Al Oliver committed errors for the Pirates. Oliver and Bob Robertson hit homers for Pittsburgh.

up Robinson, hit the Orioles' third baseman in the back of the neck, enabling Merv Rettenmund to score from second with the winning run.

The misplay ended a magnificent pitching duel between Baltimore's Dave McNally, who scattered seven hits in gaining his fourth victory in five decisions, and Pete Broberg, who allowed only two hits but saw his record fall to 2-2. The shutout was McNally's fourth of the year, and marked his 14th consecutive victory over the Rangers, who played as the Washington Senators until this season. He is 23-4 against them for his career.

Two mid-winter acquisitions—Gaylord Perry and Alex Johnson—carried the Indians over Kansas City. Perry, who came in a trade with San Francisco, pitched a five-hitter to lift his record to 5-2 and Johnson, acquired from California, slammed a three-run homer as the Indians posted their fourth straight triumph.

In other AL games, California beat Boston 5-1, Milwaukee shut out Oakland 4-0. Chicago blanked Detroit 7-0 and Minnesota stopped New York 2-0.

Eddie Fisher, called in relief when starting pitcher Nolan Ryan was injured, slammed two hits, drove in a run and helped the Angels beat Boston. Fisher relieved when Ryan suffered a pulled groin muscle in the fifth inning and allowed only two hits the rest of the way.

George Scott's run-scoring double and Billy Conigliaro's two-run homer backed Ken Brett's three-hitter and enabled the Brewers to defeat Oakland. Back-to-back doubles by Dave May and Scott produced a run in the fourth and Conigliaro followed a walk to Johnny Briggs in the seventh with his third homer as Milwaukee ended the Athletics' five-game winning streak.

Harmon Killebrew homered for one run and consecutive doubles by Cesar Tovar and Danny Thompson provided the others as Jim Perry and the Twins beat the Yankees.

A Ranger Victory Would Even Series

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two days after they escaped their expected execution, the revived New York Rangers take the ice tonight with a chance to catch the Boston Bruins at three games each in their Stanley Cup final.

The Rangers staved off the death blow by twice rallying from one-goal deficits for a 3-2 victory at Boston Tuesday night, and now trail the Bruins by three games to two in their series. Another New York success tonight would force a seventh and deciding game at Boston on Sunday afternoon.

Although disappointed at their failure to clinch the Cup on home ice and enjoy a champagne celebration, the Bruins nevertheless were confident of eventual success.

"There's no way they're going to beat us three straight," said Phil Esposito, the National Hockey League's record-breaking scorer who has yet to notch his first goal in this series despite 35 shots on net.

"We're not in trouble yet," added John McKenzie. "They have to win two in a row and we need one. We blew the game last night. We should have been ready, but instead we came out like powderpuffs. I guess we were having a holiday before we earned it."

Gerry Cheevers, who was touched for five goals in each of his two appearances in this series, is expected to draw tonight's goaltending assignment from Boston Coach Tom Johnson, while it will come as a surprise if New York Coach Emile Francis doesn't stick with Gilles Villemure, who was outstanding in Tuesday's game.

Only once before, when Toronto overcame Detroit in 1942, has a club bounced back from a 3-1 deficit in the finals to win the Stanley Cup.

Because the Bruins feel they play their best when they do a lot of hitting, there could be a good deal of body-crunching tonight reminiscent of last Sunday, when 76 penalty minutes were whistled in the first period alone and 104 for the game. Boston won that one, 3-2.

"We weren't aggressive enough," Johnson said of Tuesday's game. "The team sat down a little on the 2-1 lead, then we just didn't have the spark to get going again. Somebody asked me earlier if anyone was hurting. I don't see anyone could be because we didn't hit anybody. Now we'll just have to play our game tomorrow night and come back."

Goalie Ed Johnston and McKenzie also agreed that the Bruins may have been "too tight" in the series.

"We had everything going for us with a 3-1 lead in the series and playing in our own building," Johnston said. "We were a little tight and maybe a little overconfident."

Another factor that could be of importance is Bobby Orr's ailing left knee. The super Biston defenseman suffered another bruise on the injured knee Sunday, and although he supposedly has been slowed down a few degrees, he still managed to score two goals and an assist in that game.

Tonight's game will be televised nationally (CBS) as Sunday afternoon's, if a haven't been trying to set the seventh game is necessary.

Laver Has His Doubts

DALLAS (UPI)—Top-seeded tennis pro Rod Laver, top point maker and money winner on this year's tour, says he had serious doubts whether he would survive Wednesday's opening round of the World Championship of Tennis.

"In practice I was very uneasy about my form," Laver said. "I was dormant in practice."

Fortunately for Laver and paying spectators who expect to see the Australian's rocket-like serves in Sunday's final $50,000 round, he left his sluggishness on the practice courts. Laver victimized fellow Australian John Newcombe, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, producing just the one vital service break in each set.

In an earlier match Wednesday, Ken Rosewall of Australia shook off a surprising charge by Bob Lutz of Los Angeles to grab a 6-1, 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1 victory.

The victories put Laver into Friday night's semifinals against the winner of tonight's Cliff Drysdale-Marty Reissen match and Rosewall against the winner of the Tom Okker-Arthur Ashe match.

Newcombe tried to throw Laver off with half-speed and touch shots, but Laver dominated play with his punishing volleys and was not slowed by anything.

"Fortunately the match counted and the practice didn't," Laver said after the contest. "I didn't think John played exceptionally well. He didn't back up his serve as well as he has in the past."

Rosewall, the 37-year-old defending WCT king, wasn't in top money form and blew hot and cold. After dominating the first set with rifling backhands to offset Lutz' powerful serve, Rosewall's game went flat in the second and fourth.

"I had an unintentional meltdown after concentrating so well in the first set," Rosewall said. "I started each set well but was caught a little off guard."

Lutz' charges visibly shook the defending champion. Five times Rosewall threw his racket into the sportface surface of SMU's Moody Coliseum.

But the defending champion won the first four games of the final set, then used his pinpoint backhand to eliminate Lutz in the seventh. In games two, three and four, Lutz managed only three total points.

"I got down real fast and was in a hole I just couldn't get out of," Lutz said. "I was a little tense. I haven't been in a big match like this in some time."

Rosewall, standing nearby, turned and said pointedly, "You won't be in another big one for a while either, will you?"

Pa. Girl Can't Play H.S. Golf

LEWISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Barbara Lynn Purnell practiced with her high school golf team for three years before she qualified to play.

Then she was kicked off the team, by a state rule forbidding girls to play on boys' teams. So she went to court.

"I don't think it's fair," said Miss Purnell, 18, when she learned that her federal court petition for a temporary injunction had failed.

Judge R. Dixon Herman of Harrisburg Wednesday refused her petition to be permitted to play with the all-male golf team at Lewisburg High School.

Herman said Miss Purnell's attorney failed to show that she would be "irreparably harmed" if she does not participate in the last two or four games of the season. The last match is May 27.

The rule in her case, enacted by the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association (PIAA) last fall, says that "girls shall not practice or compete against boys in interscholastic athletic contests, excepting riflery."

"They said at the hearing that the rule was passed primarily to induce more girls' sports in high school," Miss Purnell said. "But when they were asked how many girls' golf teams there are, they replied that there were none."

"I tried to get a girls' team started at my school. But there wasn't enough interest, and they told me there was no way to finance it."

Judge Herman said his ruling would not affect Miss Purnell's suit challenging the PIAA rule.

Miss Purnell said she practiced with the golf squad since she was a freshman, and qualified for fourth position in the first match. The squad includes 17 boys.

"The administration and my coach were behind me and all the boys on the team were for it. That made me feel better," she said.

Miss Purnell is easing her disappointment by serving as manager of the team. "I go to all the games, I keep the score. I tell them what clubs to use and I give them a little help," she said.

The match was held under ideal conditions at Red Hook Country Club.

House Investigating

Crime in Sports?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House committee investigating the infiltration of organized crime into professional sports today called as witnesses the reputed head of the Mafia in St. Louis and two of that city's top police officers.

Anthony Giordano, the reputed St. Louis Mafia chieftain, was the fourth alleged member of the underworld subpoenaed to testify before the crime committee which earlier zeroed in on the influence of Detroit mobsters on the sports world but found its witnesses uncooperative.

Lt. Col. John Doherty, chief of detectives in St. Louis, and Detective Capt. Earl T. Halvander, commander of the intelligence unit, also were summoned to testify today.

One witness Wednesday was Anthony Zerilli, a balding, pudgy, middle-aged man who took the Fifth Amendment at least 20 times in refusing to answer all questions about his alleged involvement with Detroit's rackets and the Hazel Park race track.

Zerilli, Frank Tocco and Michael Polizzi, all identified by federal authorities as members of Detroit's organized crime syndicate, declined to answer dozens of questions about the race track and the nation's biggest sports concessionaire, Emprise Corp.

Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., charged the witnesses seemed to be saying, "I'm guilty of something and I don't want to talk about it."

Steiger defended their Fifth Amendment right to refuse to give testimony that might be incriminating, but he said Zerilli's silence was "prima facie evidence the man is not fit to run a race track."

Until last week, Zerilli was a director at Hazel Park where he previously served as president. He still owns stock in the track as does Tocco, the executive vice president of Hazel Park.

Another stockholder, Peter Bellanca, who is Zerilli's lawyer, also took the Fifth Amendment. Bellanca, Zerilli, Polizzi and the Emprise firm were convicted in Los Angeles of conspiracy to hide out-of-state gambling interests in the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas.

WHY WE CAN'T SELL YOU A SMALL VOLVO.

Volvos are built in Sweden where, as you see, the high growth rate is measured in feet as well as economic output. Since Sweden is not a little man's country, it would make little sense for Volvo to be his car. The Volvos in our showroom were designed to accommodate knees without crumpling and heads without banging. Which means that if you come to us looking for something in a small Volvo, we'll have to disappoint you.

Gains for Rondout and New Paltz

KINGSTON When the cat's away... Liberty was away Wednesday so its nearest baseball rivals in the Ulster County Athletic League North, New Paltz and Rondout, played and won.

The Huges tripped Pine Bush, 8-1, while Rondout was nipping Walkill, 6-5, each thus picking up a half game on idle Liberty in the standings. Liberty's game at Ontonago was postponed due to wet grounds as was Ellenville at Highland. Also off was the scheduled Marlboro-Coleman game.

The wins by New Paltz and Rondout left the Northern race as follows: Liberty 6½; New Paltz 6½; and Rondout 5½.

Coach Bill Freer's New Paltz team pounded out 10 hits, including four by winning pitcher Rick Pesavento, in pinning Pine Bush with its seventh UCAL defeat.

Pesavento's single in the first inning set up the first NP run. Rick moved to second on a passed ball and, after Jay Ackert had walked, advanced to third on a wild pitch. Mike Snyder walked to fill the sacks and Alan Bonagura also drew a pass and the visitors had made it to the scoreboard.

New Paltz tallied its second run in the fourth when Floyd Marks singled and came around on Pesavento's two bagger.

Doubles by Pesavento and Bonagura helped the Huges build up their total further in the later innings.

The Bushmen scored their lone run in the sixth when Ike Gaston tripled and Jim Caputo singled.

Pesavento went the first six, fanning seven without a walk. Ed Siani received a save, striking out two and walking three.

Brian Howard was the starter and loser for Pine Bush. He hurled six innings with 7Ks and 6 walks. Chuck Walters mopped up with one strikeout and one walk.

Don Shaver and Mike Botsakos each slammed three base hits to pace the Rondout nine to its win over Walkill.

Shaver's single to open the ball game started the Ganders on their way. A double by Hyler Van Wagenen drove the first run home.

Rondout made it 2-0 in the third as Tim Rein walked. Shaver doubled, and Ed Barry singled. But Walkill tied it in its half of the inning when, with men on first and second, Louie Scott singled and George Drobot reached on Rein's error.

Rondout came right back in the fourth as pitcher Mark

Dalters walked three men and Shaver greeted reliever Drobot with a run-scoring single.

The Ganders put it away in the sixth. Botsakos singled to open the frame. Another hit and a walk loaded the bases and a pass to Rein brought in one.

Then Billy Wilkens doubled in two more.

Walkill's aborted rally failed despite a pair in the sixth on hits by Walters, Tony Scott, and Ralph Calderone and a sacrifice fly by Fred Doski. The Panthers scored one in the seventh as Lou Scotto doubled and came home on an error.

Barry was the starting pitcher but lasted only one and a third. Shaver relieved, went the rest of the way, and was the winner. Walters was the loser with Drobot mopping up.

Sawyer Thinclads Split

ALBANY You can judge the kind of trip Sawyer two mile relay team of the Saugerties High School track team had here Wednesday any of three ways.

Weatherwise, things weren't too good as the meet between SHS, Granville, and Albany Academy was held in a down-pour. And about the meet?

Well, the Sawyers didn't do too well with Granville, the latter winning easily, 106-35. But Saugerties fared well against Albany, recording a 79-62 triumph. Score the day 1-1-1.

Rich Franchini paced the Sawyer win with first place finishes in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Saugerties also got stellar performances from Steve Thornton (hurdles), Don Brown (two mile), Bob Praetorius (shot put), Paul Coffey (high jump), and

Braves Looking For New Manager

KINGSTON — The Kingston Braves will be one of 11 teams competing in the 1972 version of the Hudson Valley American Legion Rookie Baseball League. General Manager Fred J. Davi said today.

"The Warwick Comets will not field a team this year," said Mr. Davi, "but the overall strength of the league should be the best in many years."

Brave Heir Takes It All In Mighty M Pace Feature

MONTICELLO — Brave Heir, a five-year-old gelding, won his second in a row at the Mighty M in a week, taking Wednesday night's featured pace in 2:07.1 (6) and Tyron Star (3) paid sweeping to a two-length margin over Mich En Shadew. Jack Ferraro of Kingston and Armbror Instant. Even more interesting it boosted the box score of owner Joe King's single-shafted sulky to three of four starts this week.

Brave Heir took the lead in the third race when provisional coming to the three-quarter driver Robert Dill was unseated pole, moving from third past from Drullit. The horse Mich En Shadew, and kept stepped into the wheel of a rolling in high gear. He paid sulky being pulled by We Do $10.40, $4.80 and $3.00.

John Gilmour piloted Brave Heir last night on opening night, the gelding was driven both drivers and horses were by Clint Galbraith. Both times unhurt. The race went to he was hooked to the unique Bombay Gold driven by Steve sulky which supposedly cuts Knoblock, with Perky Berk down wind resistance and driven by Dominic Macedonia results in bettering a horse's second. They were co-favorites and resulted in a $33.30 per cent.

At least that's Joe King's facta.

The name of Gary Dross, a former league MVP and baseball coach at Orange County Community College at Middletown, has figured in pre-season speculation as a possible Braves pilot.

"I have talked with Dross," said Davi, "but we did not reach any conclusions." Davi Making up the Southern Division are the Cornwall Missiles, Middletown Explorers, New Windsor Rockets, Valley Central Geminis and Minsink Valley Orbis.

The Warwick Comets will not field a team this season and it has been decided that their franchise will be held in abeyance for one year.

Norm Humber, Valley Central Geminis, has headed a special committee on revisions to the Constitution and By-Laws of the league and the proposed draft will be presented at tonight's meeting.

Administrative officers for the Rookie League this season are: Commissioner S. A. Ciccio, Newburgh Northern Division president, John Leonetti, Newburgh; Southern Division president, Ray Smith of Middletown.

Sal Ciccio of Newburgh, one of the league founders and stalwarts, will serve as financial secretary. The league secretary is Ken Jennings of Wappingers Falls.

Nick Boonstra of Beacon is the league statistician. Bill Lynch, Hopewell Junction, publicity chairman; and Joe Tarallo, umpire in chief.

The league will play a 162 game schedule for high school and college age players, through June and July, with final division tournament games slated the first two weeks in August.

Tracy Demarest of Maximus Super hit with a 15-foot jump shot a split second before the final buzzer to give her team a 23-21 squeaker over Oldies-But-Goodies and the Saugerties Athletic Association girls basketball league championship playoff game.

Maximus Super had won the Knick Division with a 7-3 and Oldies-But-Goodies were 10-0 to take the New Division.

Ginger Swart led Maximus with nine points and Karen O'Reilly hit six. Sylvia Kramer (8) and Pat Pesek (7) paced the Goodies.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have some new project in mind, and would do well to discuss it first with experts and gain their views. You are tempted to criticize, but it is best not to. Listen and learn is the keynote.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Think more about the situation at home and concentrate on how to eliminate any friction existing there now. You can easily get at all those small, household repairs. Have an enthusiastic attitude.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are able now to use more up-to-date methods at your regular duties and get better results. Add comforts to your home. Out to the right sources where you can get the facts you need at this time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY—he or she will be one of those charming young people who seems to put a dollar sign in front of everything from earliest childhood, so be sure to give the spiritual and ethical training necessary while young to combine this trait with idealism. Then this becomes not only a successful, but a happy chart and much of value can be accomplished during the lifetime. Some sports are necessary early to build up the rather frail body here.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

NO SUBSTITUTE? (Q.) About a year and a half ago I went steady with Luke and fell very much in love with him. But he broke off with me. I was very much broken up. He said he still loved me but wanted to date other girls and wanted me to date other boys. Well, I've dated other boys. In fact I got engaged to one, but broke it because I found out I didn't love him as much as I love Luke. I love Luke more than anything in this world, and I want him back. This is leap year and I was wondering if it is all right for me to ask him back.—Desperate in Colorado.

(A.) You can't WILL Luke to like you as much as you like him. But you can encourage him to be friendly when you see him. Be cheerful too. A cheerful girl is much more exciting than an unhappy appearing one.

I do not believe "asking him back" is your answer, even on a leap year.

SNOB SIGNAL: (Q.) I give a rotten first impression. People think I am a snob when they first meet me. It's awful. All the kids that don't know me well think I'm stuck up. I need help. I am a girl, 12 years old.—Misjudged in Virginia.

(A.) A girl who is overly concerned about herself is likely to give the impression of snobbishness. She spends so much time fretting about herself that there isn't much time to be concerned with others.

The way to overcome this is to spend so much time helping others that you don't have a lot of time to worry about yourself.

Your answer, I believe, is volunteer work. There are places you can serve in your school, in your church, perhaps later in hospitals, doing things for others.

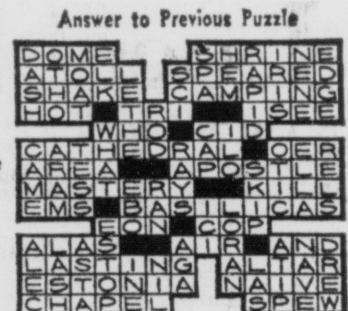

You will find so many who need your help and you will get so interested in helping them that you won't be mistaken for a snob.

Why? Because you won't be reserved, and distant, and self-centered. Instead you will be open, and caring, with love for others in your heart. When love is in your heart, people can see it in your eyes.

Talk Shows . . . Endangered?

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Cavett's show is on three months probation at ABC. David Frost will drop his syndicated series in midsummer in favor of his weekly revue and occasional specials. Does this mean the nighttime talk show is an endangered television species?

Opinion among the experts is split, but the consensus seems to be that the problem faced by these two and some others is more that of supply and demand than the quality of talk.

"I think there is a parallel in NBC's experience years ago with the 'Today' show," said a network executive who asked for anonymity. "There had been nothing like that in the morning when the show started. It caught on with the public and the advertisers. Then CBS came along and threw in some competition—Jack Paar and Ernie Kovacs. They disappeared because by that time 'Today' was entrenched with its audience."

There has been lots of competition, the executive continued. "ABC tried with Jerry Lewis and Joey Bishop before Cavett. CBS had Merv Griffin. The truth is that there are just a certain number of TV sets that stay on in the late evening. When too many shows compete for the same audience, and for the advertisers' dollars, it is a set-up for financial disaster for the networks and for their affiliates."

Another student of television, a former network vice president, brushed off Cavett's troubles as "a cyclical phenomenon of television."

"It is not unusual," he said. "One type of show does well and then the networks or the advertisers think they can get another show because 'the same people kept appearing on both shows.'"

"Compare it with shelf space in a store: When there are a lot of brands of cereal crowding a limited space, the ones that don't sell well or come along too late don't make the shelf."

Cavett, with about 140 stations airing his program, and Frost, with a syndication of around 70 stations, have suffered, in the opinion of others, because "the same people kept appearing on both shows."

"Frost and Cavett worked at cross purposes," said one. "In fact, I always think of Cavett, in his approach to interviews, of brands of cereal crowding as the American Frost."

BELFAST PATROL — Armed members of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) patrol the Upper Falls area of Belfast in a Land Rover, which was hijacked at gunpoint two weeks ago from Castlereagh District Council workmen and is now being used by the IRA. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Belfast Schoolgirl, 15, Is Tarred and Feathered

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—For five days they beat her. Then they tore her hair out by the roots and shaved her head. Finally there was a public tarring and feathering. That punishment, meted out by the Irish Republican Army (IRA) to a 15-year-old Belfast schoolgirl they accused of being a police informer, had even hardened troops and policemen shaking their heads.

Said one police officer: "We have come to expect some pretty low things from these people, but this must be one of the worst."

The girl was identified as Elizabeth Hyland, who lives in a Roman Catholic area of the city. Hospital spokesmen said today she was "recovering" but would give no details. Army troops found her Wednesday night slumped against a lamppost in Belfast's Catholic Lower Falls area. A crowd of 200 persons stood silently by. "The soldiers moved the crowd on and were horrified at what they found," a police spokesman said. "The girl was in a condition that can only be described as sickening."

The official IRA, in a statement circulated to the crowd, described the girl's treatment as "lenient."

It said no brutality had been used and went on: "This treatment is not regarded as severe considering the crimes to which she had admitted. Her age and sex were also taken into consideration. Let others be warned."

Her family told police she had been abducted from her home Friday night, held prisoner in various IRA hideouts and beaten regularly before the tarring and feathering.

In other developments: Twenty-five persons were injured Wednesday when a bomb exploded in Belfast's largest department store. A spokesman for the Belfast Cooperative Store estimated damage at $26 million, one of the highest damage estimates for any single incident since secular violence broke out on the province in 1969.

The army said its Bligh's Lane post overlooking Londonderry's Roman Catholic Creggan Estate came under sniper fire throughout the night. Troops claimed at least four gunmen hit. There were also at least 18 sniper attacks on army units in Belfast with no casualties.

Prater, a UMW field representative, both of whom have been arrested.

Sprague said last week that the $15,000 paid to the killers came from a UMW research and information fund, set up at a meeting between Pass and Boyle, which was actually a murder fund.

"I sent a letter to Mr. Sprague two years ago charging Yablonski's killers," Carey said. "I told him it was wrong international executive board for a prosecutor to make member, and William J. extrajudicial statements."

The last two suspects to confess said money to pay the Yablonski killers came from Carey Albert W. Pass, a UMW said. "I told him it was wrong international executive board for a prosecutor to make member, and William J. extrajudicial statements."

HONG KONG (UPI)—China today called President Nixon's blockade of North Vietnam "a flagrant provocation" and said it would do everything in its power to support and assist Communist forces throughout Indochina.

The Chinese reaction came in a commentator's article in the People's Daily, official newspaper of the Chinese Communist party. The article was broadcast by the New China News Agency and monitored here.

Articles in the People's Daily, though often written by senior Communist party officials, rank below a formal editorial or a party or government statement. Some China analysts here say the article leaves Premier Chou En-lai and his government an option for more—or less—forceful official reaction.

The article disputed Nixon's claim that he was forced by the North Vietnamese to mine their harbors and blockade shipment of military supplies into the country.

"This is preposterous to the extreme," it said of the President's reasoning. "The Vietnamese people have not sent a single soldier to invade Florida or Texas of the United States; nor have they gone to the United States to foster any puppet clique and embarked on an "Americanization" program to make Americans fight Americans."

Peace Group Critical

KINGSTON Paul Atkinson, chairman of the Ulster County Peace Committee, has released the following statement in answer to President Nixon's address to the nation on Vietnam, Monday night.

Atkinson said, "President Nixon has often stated that he inherited this war, that it was not his war. He was, however, elected to the highest office of this land almost four years ago on the pledge that he had a secret plan to end the war. If he does, we can only assume his plan is still a secret. With six months to go before November, not only has he escalated and intensified overall American involvement, but he has by his mining of Haiphong Harbor, risked bringing us all to the brink of a shooting war with the Soviet Union; this practice on the eve of a peace mission to the same country, President Nixon's Vietnam policies over the past three years have proven themselves to be highly unsatisfactory, often outrageous and always counter productive.

This new development is no exception, but it does offer one new aspect. Now we not only have to worry about the safety of the 60,000 Americans remaining in South Vietnam but of 200 million remaining at home.

"I don't feel at this point that a public demonstration or the writing of letters to the president will be of any real use. President Nixon has already acknowledged the existence of polls indicating at least 70 per cent of the American people against the war, all of his presidential advisors have unanimously agreed that if he continues his present strategy he may forfeit the November election, and he has seen anti-war sentiment launch some of the biggest

"As long as U.S. imperialism does not pull out its aggressor troops and the troops of its hirelings and cease to support the puppet clique in South Vietnam, the armed forces and people of South Vietnam are fully entitled to strike at the U.S. aggressors and their flunkies, and the people of North Vietnam are fully entitled to support their own flesh-and-blood compatriots in the South."

The latter statement was regarded by analysts as the clearest statement yet made by China to endorse the North Vietnamese thrust across the Demilitarized Zone into the South.

demonstrations in the history of the United States. "I therefore urge you instead to contact and ask of your Congressman, Hamilton Fish Jr., that he give you what President Nixon will not... representation," Atkinson concluded.

Conservative Praise

KINGSTON President Nixon's speech from members of the Ulster Conservative Party.

He pointed out that in the past his party has been critical of Nixon on a number of domestic issues and "was a bit peeved" over his recent visit to Red China. "But," he concluded, "we are fully behind him on the Vietnam issue."

Hoffman said he has received nothing but good reaction to his party's speech.
